NO. 219—SEVENTIETH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1928 | TWENTY-TWO PAGES

LIVESTOCK PARADE IS ATTRACTIVE

Fine Showing of Grade Stock Is Made on Citizens' Day at Fair — Great Improvement on 1927

MIDWAY DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

Sheep-Shearing Demonstration Will Be Held Today —Stockbreeders' Luncheon Tomorrow at Noon

WITH three days of the Victoria Provincial Exhibition concluded, propitious weather still prevailing, and a record crowd passing the midweek gate, one can already prophecy a financial success for the big snow of 1928. That it is a success from its instructional and entertainment side no one can deny, for in quality, quantity, attractiveness of exhibits and enthusiasm on the part of those concerned in every section, this exhibition has surpassed every previous event of its kind previously held.

Judging was continued all day. The cattle classes were completed early, as were the sheep and swine, and goats were led into the ring during the day.

THE CATTLE PARADE

The big spectacular feature of the day was the parade, which took place in the centre of the field during the afternoon.

Punctually at 3 o'clock the procession began to leave the vicinity of the barns, headed by a mounted marshal, who was followed by two eight-horse teams of beautiful grey Percherons from the Damascus Milk Company and the Ruby Stock Farms, of Portland, respectively. These teams, drawing white painted wagons, were followed by a number of Percheron stallions and mares, after which came another team from Messrs. Ruby's, and a splendid team of Clydesdales, owned by R. C. McCrosky, of Garfield, Washington, which was followed by individual Clydesdales and another fine team of heavy horses from H. W. Merritt's Stock Farm, of Rosalie, Washington.

A group of riders on well-groomed animals followed, featuring a strong contingent from the Victoria Riding Academy, led by Mr. and Mrs. Carley, of this institution. Next came a string of fine thoroughbreds and other light horses, the equine parade being terminated by some children riding and driving Shetlands.

Then came the cattle, truly a fine array, representative of all the different varieties entered in the show.

The various parts of the procession received much applause as they circled the race course, and some fun was caused by the escape of a young bull, which, after batting with his leader, galloped onto the race track. The long parade more than completely circled the inside of the course, as the leading teams had all been drawn up in the centre before the end of the procession had entered the grounds. The champions from the Holsteins, Ayrshires, Jerseys, Guernseys, Red Poll and Aberdeen Angus classes were all included in the procession.

RECORD CROWDS

While the crowd during the afternoon was a large one, the evening's attendance created a record and penetrated in large numbers to every part of the exhibition.

This year there is such a profusion of exhibits, covering so many varied interests, that the visitor cannot possibly do justice to the fair in one visit. Each of the larger

FRENCH MAKE STAGE READY FOR CEREMONY

Impressive Setting Prepared for Signing of Anti-War Pact on Monday — Cabinet Assembles

PROCEEDINGS TO BE ON BIG SCALE

PARIS, Aug. 22. — European statesmen and diplomats, especially those connected with the foreign departments of the various governments, began breaking up their annual August holidays today to get ready for the signing here next Monday of the pact for the outlawry of war as a national policy. The members of the French cabinet who would customarily spend the entire month in the country, were back in Paris tonight. They had been summoned by special meeting of the ministry, which is to be held tomorrow.

They are to discuss details of the signing ceremony, and also of the other events planned to make the visiting dignitaries feel at home as well as honored. Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, and Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State for the United States, will be escorted to Paris from Havre on a special train.

The actual signing of the treaty and the other official affairs that go with it, will all be carried out on a big scale, but with settings calculated to harmonize with democratic simplicity.

HITCH OCCURS IN LOVAT PLAN

PREMIER OF ONTARIO NOT ANXIOUS TO SHOULDER MIGRATION FINANCE

Problem Stated to Be Essentially British One—Willing to Give Co-Operation

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—While the Province of Ontario is willing to co-operate in every way possible with bringing the immigration scheme suggested by Lord Lovat to fruition, Premier Ferguson expressed the opinion today that the matter was essentially a British rather than Ontario problem. Discussing the conference held with Lord Lovat in his office yesterday, the premier stated that he looked forward with great optimism to the final result, although he admitted that the paramount question of finance had not been definitely settled. The premier pointed out that the Ontario Government was already lending money to Ontario farmers and financing settlers in Northern Ontario.

Under the scheme the British Government is working directly with the Dominion Government, and financial details are being worked out between these two governments.

LORD LOVAT'S VIEW

Migration problems and difficulties could all be solved by mutual understanding and more general and thorough knowledge of conditions in the different parts of the Empire, said Lord Lovat, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Dominion Affairs, in addressing a meeting of the Empire Club today. The speaker deplored the lack of statistical information about the overseas Dominions available in England and appealed for a greater understanding in Canada of the conditions in Great Britain.

"If we in England," he said, "knew and were able to appreciate the position of the Dominions, and if you in the Dominions were able to appreciate our position at home, the question of immigration would be solved at once."

TO CONTINUE SEARCH

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—Determination to continue a search for Roald Amundsen and the six missing men of the dirigible Italia, was voiced today in a statement issued by the Soviet rescue commission.

DUTY PROVES ARDUOUS FOR NEW LEADER

Dr. Tolmie Tells Conservative Picnic He Finds Cabinet Problem in Multitude of Supporters

ATTORNEY-GENERAL IS CONGRATULATED

Work of Hon. R. H. Pooley During Sixteen Years Is Commended by Political Associates

PREMIER Tolmie is not enamored of the task of forming governments. Especially is this true when he has only eight vacancies to fill with some thirty-five available members, all of whom, he says, are capable of filling the places. At the picnic of the Esquimalt Conservative Association yesterday afternoon the head of the Government said that while some of those present might regard hockey as an exciting game, it was not in it with forming a Cabinet.

"There is no reason for believing that the best that are within the group of Conservative members of the House are within the Government," said Dr. Tolmie. "I could not crowd thirty-five men into eight positions, and that was the task that I was faced with."

He went on to say that when the suggestion was made that His Honor might refuse to accept some of the ministers that he suggested he had said: "I wish he would refuse half of them and then I could fill their places several times over from the material that I have."

The Premier made clear that when he addressed himself to the task of filling his Cabinet he made first choice of Hon. R. H. Pooley, the member for Esquimalt. He said that there was no question in his mind as to Mr. Pooley being entitled to any position that he desired in the Cabinet. He had earned this by his long services to the party and by the arduous and unselfish work he had done as House leader of the party.

A CLIMAX

"The events of yesterday," said Dr. Tolmie, "was the climax to a great episode in my life which had its beginning at Kamloops."

Since that time he said he had received the hearty support of the Conservatives of the province. The election was an indication of what the party could accomplish. It had a tremendous effect throughout the whole of Canada.

He advised the keeping of the machinery of organization ready for the next Dominion election, which would not be long in coming.

Hon. H. R. Pooley, in being introduced as the special guest of the day, in view of the fact that the picnic was arranged for the purpose of marking the victory of Mr. Pooley at the polls.

The new Attorney-General embraced the opportunity, the first he had had, to thank the electors for his return. He appreciated the confidence that had been shown in him and referred to the honor that had been bestowed upon him in his selection as Attorney-General as being due to the confidence that the electorate of Esquimalt had placed in him.

The acid test, he said, was in the fact that after seventeen years of service in the House he had been elected by a larger majority than ever.

He said that he fully appreciated the onerous duties placed upon him. He fully realized the responsibility.

"I will see that the administration

AIR MINISTRY GRAFTER FOUND

London Clerk Offers to Sell Information to Firm Bidding for Bomb Contract

LONDON, Aug. 22.—"It might have been impossible for the Government to obtain the best prices because of treachery in their office," observed the magistrate at Bow Street police court today in sentencing Archibald Taylor, aged twenty-seven, to two months in prison for an offence under the Corrupt Practices Act. Taylor, a clerk in the Air Ministry, had access to the tenders for supplying practice bombs. He wrote to a firm, "in strict confidence," that on the prices they quoted they stood small or no chance of obtaining the order, and was prepared to give them a complete list of their competitors' quotations. The prisoner, in his letter, said he had two objects in writing—he was in financial difficulties and he objected to the orders going to the "big combines."

Taylor came to grief when the recipients of the letter took it to the Air Ministry.

Chicago Witness Shot

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Assassins' bullets removed another figure from the recent election crimes grand jury investigation today with the slaying of Leigh Di Bernardo, who was shot to death in his auto while investigators sought him as a witness to the grand jury. Di Bernardo was wanted for questioning about the slaying of Octavus Granady, negro opponent of Morris Eller.

Richmond Wins District Trophy At Exhibition

RICHMOND won the district exhibit at the Victoria Exhibition yesterday, defeating Victoria. It retained thereby the J. W. Tolmie Cup, held in 1926 and 1927, and a prize of $400. The score was 2,205 points, Victoria securing 2,093 points.

The maximum is 2,650, the exhibit being comprised of fruits, grains, seeds, forage plants, roots and vegetables, dairy produce, poultry and preserved vegetables.

Richmond has won the cup three times previously, but this is the first time it has passed in three successive years to the same district since it was instituted in 1911.

B.C. FISHERMEN ACCEPT TERMS CANNERS OFFER

Meeting of Fraser River Men Operating 1,500 Boats Votes Two to One in Favor of Agreement

TO RESUME WORK WITHOUT DELAY

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 22.—Fraser River fishermen, operating 1,500 boats in District No. 1, today accepted the terms offered by the canners and will return to work tomorrow morning. The men have been idle since Sunday. At a meeting here today the men, by a majority of nearly two to one, accepted the new price schedule, which is as follows: Sockeye, seventy cents per fish until September 15, after which the price will be determined by quality; nine cents a pound for red springs and three cents for white springs; cohoes, six cents a pound with a price adjustment when the main run begins; chums, fifteen cents now, with a price adjustment later.

B.C. Law Officers Clear Doubt Upon Size of Cabinet

The point has been raised in Vancouver that the Government which Hon. S. F. Tolmie has just formed is too large under the Constitution Act. It is at least urged that only eight ministers, including the Premier, are entitled to draw salaries in connection with their offices.

When the matter was called to the attention of Premier Tolmie last evening, he said this was a point that he had carefully investigated before he proceeded along the course he took in forming his cabinet. The opinion of the law officers of the Crown in the province was taken, and before action was taken in connection with the swearing in of the cabinet, the attention of the Administrator was also called to the situation, and the opinions of the law officers were before him.

The opinion was that in addition to the Premier there could be eight ministers drawing salaries in the Government. Dr. Tolmie said he took the greatest care in the matter to ascertain whether the course taken was a correct one, and the highest opinion was that the proceeding was correct.

Prince George Will Arrive in Vancouver Today

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22. Prince George will arrive in Vancouver at 1 o'clock Thursday morning to join his ship, H.M.S. Durban, here. At 10:30 a.m. Acting-Mayor P. C. Gibbons will extend an official welcome to the Prince. On Tuesday next His Royal Highness will be the guest of honor at a civic banquet and he will also attend a ball the same night. On Wednesday the Durban will sail for Esquimalt en route south.

Police and Communists Clash in Riga Streets

RIGA, Aug. 22.—There were numerous clashes between Communists and police on Riga streets today, and only large mounted patrols, armed with rifles, prevented rioting. As it was, minor casualties were reported.

The clashes followed an attempt by Communists to force a general strike here, following ostensably the action of the Government in dissolving extremist trade unions for alleged plotting to bring about a Communist revolution.

AMBASSADORS RETURNING

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—All but four of the fifty young ambassadors of the Empire party left tonight for Edmonton on their return to Great Britain. Four members of the party, two girls and two boys, remained over to meet H.R.H. Prince George here tomorrow morning.

DEATH IN RESTAURANT

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—William McCarthy, 1201 Harwood Street, collapsed in a local restaurant late this afternoon, and died almost immediately.

REPUBLIC IN EUROPE ASKS FOR MONARCH

Mass Demonstrations Held Throughout Albania Declaring for Establishment of Kingdom

PROCLAMATION SET FOR END OF WEEK

Jugoslavians Ascribe Event to Policy of Italy—Question of Title Believed Important

TIRANA, Albania, Aug. 22.—Reports that the third constituent assembly of Albania is to proclaim Ahmed Zogu monarch of the country when it meets next Saturday, were officially confirmed to the Associated Press today.

In order to show that the change is being effected with freedom from foreign influence, mass demonstrations have been staged in all parts of the country.

In all of these demonstrations there has been declared adopted a mass resolution favoring the change from a republic to a monarchy.

JUGOSLAVIAN VIEW

BELGRADE, Aug. 22.—That Italy has created the new Albanian kingdom so that it would constitute a perpetual menace to the southern flank of Jugoslavia, was the frank comment of official circles here today. Unofficially it was said that the Government probably will object if Ahmed Zogu assumes the title of King of the Albanians.

It will not interfere, however, if he is crowned merely as "King of Albania."

The distinction is important in Jugoslavian eyes because there are upwards of 500,000 Albanians living within Jugoslavia and also are now considered subjects of King Alexander.

POLICE HEADS IN CONFERENCE

CHIEF CONSTABLES' ASSOCIATION OF CANADA CONVENES IN TORONTO

Financial Institutions Blamed for Failing to Do More to Prevent Robberies

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—Treatment of convicts, the proper attitude of police towards immigrants and the responsibility of large financial firms for crimes of thefts were among the topics discussed at today's session of the convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada.

It was suggested that financial institutions relied too much on insurance to reimburse them for loss and failed to take sufficient precautions in protecting their securities. The point was raised by Chief Chris Newton, of Winnipeg, who said: "In order to provide proper protection, safeguards must be afforded, and these can be given only by close co-operation between bodies governing police organizations and financial institutions."

Colonel Courtland Starnes, Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, pleaded for a more sympathetic treatment of immigrants. "Our clear duty," he said, "is to support heartily the desire of the Government that those whom it permits to enter the country shall become citizens as rapidly as possible."

SHIPS GREETED AT VANCOUVER

Seaplanes Circles Overhead and Thousands of Citizens Welcome British Warships

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22 — With two Royal Canadian Air Force seaplanes circling overhead and thousands of citizens on hand to welcome them, H.M.S. Despatch, H.M.S. Durban, and H.C.M.S. Vancouver entered the harbor late this afternoon, and anchored in the stream for a ten days' stay. The Despatch, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Cyril T. M. Fuller, commander-in-chief of the North American and West Indies station, and the Durban, have been cruising in North Pacific waters for some time. Acting-Mayor P. C. Gibbons and an official party boarded the flagship upon its arrival, and extended a welcome to the admiral and his men.

At noon tomorrow Admiral Fuller and officers of the cruisers will be the guests of the Canadian Club at luncheon.

PRINCE GEORGE SENDS MESSAGE AFTER JOURNEY

Admiration Expressed for Extensive Developments He Has Seen Undertaken in This Dominion

BEST WISHES GO TO HARVESTERS

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—The following message from Prince George, who is due to arrive in Vancouver early tomorrow morning, was received by the Canadian Press late tonight: "Since my presence in Vancouver is due to joining my ship, this visit must necessarily be of an informal character, but I am glad to find myself once more in Canada and to have this opportunity to express my admiration of the extensive developments which I see being undertaken in this great Dominion. It is indeed a pleasure to me to find that this country is about to enjoy the fruits of a good harvest, and the extensive cultivation that I have seen on all sides on the line on which I have been traveling is an earnest proof of what this country can produce and a striking example of its potential wealth.

"I traveled out on a ship with a contingent of miners sent out from England to assist you to harvest your crops. I send these men my best wishes for their future welfare, hoping many of them will settle out here when their immediate task is completed and become worthy citizens of Canada."

University Women May Augment Gift For Study Abroad

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—Suggestion that the present scholarship of $1,250, to enable a Canadian woman student to study at any university abroad for one year, be augmented by the establishment of a loan fund to allow a second year for the attainment of a degree, was discussed at today's session of the fourth triennial conference here of the Canadian Federation of University Women. It was decided that the suggestion be referred to the various clubs each to report to the executive who will have power to act at the next annual meeting.

Rean R. W. Brock, of the University of British Columbia, addressed the conference tonight on the Oriental question.

C.P.R. Plans Invasion Of North Saskatchewan

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 22—The building of a huge steel bridge over the Saskatchewan River is proposed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, with intentions to construct it north of Nipawin, on the Tisdale subdivision. They are at the present time calling tenders for the concrete work.

According to the company's engineering department, the bridge will be 1,840 feet long with an approximate height of 150 feet, while there will be fifteen spans. The two approaches running north and south will be composed of four seventy-five feet, three forty-five feet and one eighty foot deck plate girders respectively, all supported on steel towers, each carried on low concrete pedestals. The soutments will also be of concrete.

Fire Bugs in Guelph

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 22—There has been no let-up in the activities of the incendiaries responsible for an epidemic of fires in the city during the last three weeks. Early today a bundle of blazing paper and rags was thrust through the window of a ground floor bedroom at the residence of Thomas Marcroft, setting fire to sheets and scorching the mattress of the bed occupied by two boarders.

A few hours previously the incendiaries visited the same premises and set fire to an outbuilding by igniting a quantity of excelsior inside the shed. Abortive attempts were also made to burn down the plumbing establishment of John Richardson, and a dwelling.

Fast Quebec Boat Train Wrecks Car at Crossing; Five Travelers Killed

Sixth Occupant of Smashed Automobile Now in Hospital With Probably Fatal Injuries—Bodies of Dead Found So Battered as to Be Almost Unrecognizable

Passengers on Express Train Include Hon. C. A. Dunning and Hon. G. Henry

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—Five tourists from Cleveland were killed and a sixth probably fatally injured when their automobile was struck and demolished by a Canadian Pacific boat special at Yamachiche, Quebec, today. The dead are reported identified as follows: Mr. and Mrs. George Wise, Mrs Lester Vanderwerf and her two small children, Jack and Jean. Mrs. Mary Botty was taken to the hospital at Three Rivers.

The train was eastbound for Quebec and, according to railway officials, was traveling at forty-five miles an hour when it struck the automobile.

Four of the occupants of the car were instantly killed. One of the children succumbed on board the train en route for Three Rivers, whither the bodies and the injured were rushed following the accident. The bodies were reported to be so badly battered as to be almost unrecognizable.

The boat special which struck the automobile, was carrying several Canadian public officials, among them Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, and Hon. George Stewart Henry, Ontario Minister of Public Works, both of whom were en route to sail from Quebec to European points.

An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Record of Fair Attendance Is Again Achieved

Attendance at the Victoria Exhibition exceeds 1927 by a substantial margin. Paid admissions yesterday, as compared with 1927, are:

| | 1928 | 1927 |
|---|---|---|
| Afternoon | 5,605 | 3,937 |
| Evening | 4,865 | 4,000 |

This gives a paid admission total for three days of 17,511. The fair management, making allowance for members' passes, exhibitors, school children and race admissions, estimates that paid admissions are one-fifth of the total attendance, which would give an aggregate of 87,500 for the first half of the show.

Sixty-Six Women Enter Ten-Mile Swimming Race

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—Canadian National Exhibition officials announced today that, provided they pass the medical examination, sixty-six women will compete in the Wrigley ten-mile marathon for women on August 29, and 345 men will swim with the five prize-winning women in the fifteen-mile championship event on September 5.

SHIPS SAILING TO HUDSON BAY

Vessel Movements From Montreal Fairly Numerous This Season —For Harbor Work

MONTREAL, Aug. 22 — Ship movements from Montreal to Hudson Bay have been fairly numerous this season with the departure of dredges, hopper barges and other craft for service at Fort Churchill, terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, where a modern ocean harbor is being developed.

Three more vessels sailed today from the Canadian Vickers shipbuilding plant, comprising another eight-yard dipper dredge, Churchill, No. 2, which was constructed by that firm; a self-propelling hopper barge, Chesterfield, which was built by the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co., and a powerful tug, the Dainty, that was purchased by the Canadian Government from the Irish Free State.

Captain C. C. Couch, a navigator with wide experience in northern waters, was in command of the small fleet. He expects the voyage will take about a month, stops being made at Gaspe and at Wakeham Bay, Hudson Straits, for coal, though the three vessels will carry sufficient stores for three months at sea.

TELEPHONE TO TIE PROVINCES

British Columbia and Alberta to Be Connected Over C.P.R. Telegraph Lines

PROBLEMS OF DOMINION LINK

About September 15 it is hoped to open a direct telephone connection between British Columbia and Alberta by way of the Canadian Pacific telegraph lines through the Rocky Mountains. In that development a step forward will be taken towards the desired objective of a transcanada telephone.

Mr. G. H. Halse, chairman of the board of directors of the B.C. Telephone Company, says that the maintenance of the circuit, which will handle trunk calls now relayed through American territory, will be left with the telegraph company.

This effort will contribute toward the alignment of the telephone interests, both governmental and commercial, operating across Canada, which have yet to be linked up to uniformity to permit of conversation across the Dominion.

Much publicity was recently given in the Eastern press to the opening up of communication with Winnipeg, by an arrangement to use the C.P.R. telegraph poles along Lake Superior, which is a barren area from the point of view of telephone service. Where such conditions exist, as through the Rockies, some provision like that indicated above is essential to warrant the opening of a service.

To talk from here to Toronto by an all-Canadian route would entail at present, if the lines were linked up, arrangements with three government and two commercial systems, and under these circumstances telephone officials at their conferences have reached the conclusion that the only way in which a trunk telephone service can be maintained between Ontario and British Columbia, is by setting up an independent authority to arrange the details, and have a working arrangement for handling the trunk calls across the country. Under these circumstances, Mr. Halse explained to The Colonist, the problem of a transcanada telephone service is still far from settled. Some reconciliation of these conflicting problems will have to be reached before communication is feasible through Canada, as calls have been for several years routed partially over American lines.

UNGRACIOUS REFUSAL

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—The Soviet News Agency Tass, says that in response to a British request through the Norwegian mission to Moscow, that Great Britain be allowed to send a warship to transfer the bodies of the crew of the recently raised submarine L-66 from Leningrad to England, the Soviet Government has replied that it cannot consent to a British warship entering Soviet territorial waters. The Soviet Government would not object to a warship of a friendly nation, such as Norway, or a British merchantman coming.

buildings contain the material for an exhibition by itself. In addition to the attractions of the Main Building and the Automobile Show, the booths in the Manufacturers' Building are a major attraction. Never before have the business men of the city gone to such pains to make this department attractive, and all kinds of novel competitions are offered to the public as a means of advertising all manner of manufacturies and goods. The wonderful mechanical music, providing continuous concerts in each building, is a delightful feature, besides illustrating the immense improvements on the part of the makers of the various types of instruments which reproduce faultlessly classic masterpieces or modern popular compositions.

THE MIDWAY

The Midway is now in full swing, one or two small attractions that arrived late having been added. This department, representing "the fun of the fair," is indeed well patronized, and one hears no complaints on the part of concession holders who, with a continuance of fine weather, will not regret their visit.

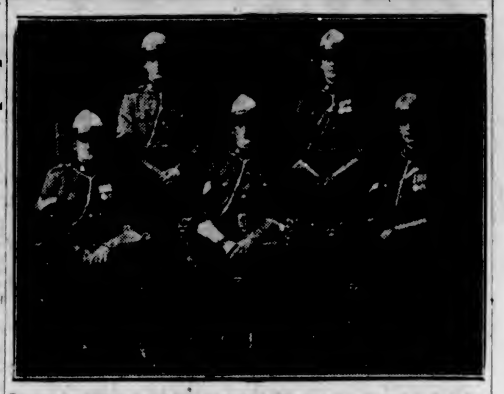

Hundreds of automobiles were all day going back and forth to the Willows, where free parking has been arranged by the fair management in the vicinity of the Arena.

The Mayor of Victoria had issued an appeal to citizens to make yesterday a real holiday in the interests of the fair, and Victorians responded in no uncertain manner. Crowds were on the grounds to a late hour, the Horse Show in the evening again attracting hundreds to see really fine horseflesh, better bred and turned out perhaps than when in pre-automobile days, the horse was mainly regarded from a utilitarian point of view.

Those who have not yet found time to visit this "bigger and better" Victoria Exhibition are urged to do so at once, leaving time for a second visit, which most are finding necessary really to appreciate all that has been arranged for their profitable entertainment.

There will be a sheep-shearing demonstration at 3 o'clock today. At noon tomorrow the stockbreeders' luncheon will be held, and at the restaurant in the evening will be conducted the annual meeting of the British Columbia Agricultural Association.

"Shooting Iron" Experts

Top row, Constable J. G. Pelletier, Constable A. Mawat; seated, Corporal A. Ford, Sgt. A. E. Smith, Corporal D. E. Forsland, winners of the Chief Constables' Association Revolver Championship Competition, Open Police Championship of Canada, 1928, held under auspices of Dominion Cartridge Company, Ltd.

THE "Mounties" have once more demonstrated their ability to handle shooting irons, by winning the Dominion of Canada Open Police revolver championship. A five-man team from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Lethbridge, Alta., after qualifying against the various detachments of their own force, met and defeated the winning civic and provincial teams. The open championship and the Dominion Marksmen trophies, donated by the Dominion Cartridge Company, went to Sergt. A. E. Smith, Corporals A. Ford and D. E. Forsland, and Constables J. G. Pelletier and A. Mowat, with the fine score of 1,042 out of 1,125 in both rapid and deliberate fire.

In addition to the trophies won by the team, Corporal A. Ford also won the Burgess Trophy for the highest individual score, making 143 out of 150 in deliberate fire and 73 out of 75 in rapid fire, or a total of 216 out of 225.

The score of the Lethbridge team of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was the highest made since these competitions were organized three years ago, and the average scores made by the various teams competing also show a marked improvement each year, since the competitions were first started.

The Dominion Marksmen competitions were organized by the Dominion Cartridge Company three years ago with a view to creating a spirit of friendly rivalry amongst the police officers throughout Canada. The following statement was recently issued by this company:

"Large areas in Canada are sparsely populated, and the general increase in violent crimes during the past few years make it imperative that our police officers be thoroughly proficient with their side arms. A police department whose members are expert shooters, not only insures protection for themselves, but is an ever present menace to persons who contemplate crime. These competitions are of considerable benefit in improving the shooting of our police officers, as the object is not merely to train a few expert men, but to enthuse all ranks to become more efficient with a revolver under actual service conditions."

Superintendent Christen Junget, Commanding Officer of the Lethbridge Detachment, R.C.M.P., is receiving congratulations upon the fine showing of his team.

of justice in the province is properly carried on. If I make a mistake it will be of the head and not of the heart," he added.

There was a great deal to do, he said, and they should not expect too much at first.

"The first thing that would be done was that which a business man would do, and this was to take stock," said the Attorney-General. There are changes to be made, some of them changes of policy. These are going to be made with the consent of my chief and I will steer my course, and nothing but the better judgment of my chief will make me deviate from that course."

CONGRATULATIONS

In the short programme of speeches that were given, Mr. C. H. Dickie, M.P., extended his congratulations.

Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, referring to the patform on which he stood (a rock projecting above the ground) said that the platform was significant of that laid down by Dr. Tolmie. He agreed that Mr. Pooley was entitled to the highest honors that could come to him.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe said he had no fear with respect to the administration of justice in the province under Attorney-General Pooley.

Mr. H. D. Twigg, member-elect, said that the members of the new Cabinet were not only to be described as honorable but as honest.

Mr. C. F. Davie, M.P.P.-elect, endorsed all the praise that had been given Mr. Pooley. Referring to the new Cabinet, he said there was not a member of it that he would wish to take away.

Mr. F. C. Elliott, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, congratulated the people of British Columbia on the election of Dr. Tolmie and the thirty-four other Conservatives. He had every confidence that the Government would give an economical and able administration, he said.

Mr. A. W. Saddler, the president of the association, introduced the speakers. Following the short addresses, the sports which were halted for the purpose of allowing of the hearing of the speakers, were resumed.

COOKERY COURSES FOR MEN

The declaration of Sir Robert Horne, speaking at the Glasgow College of Domestic Science recently, that a cookery class for poor and isolated single men should be established, has found many champions among leading educators of Europe. J. P. Thomas, of the Battersea Men's Institute of London, strongly favors the teaching of cooking to men, and his institution has established a men's class in the art. Among the pupils are both married and single men, and the instructor is a young woman. The entire duties of the kitchen are being taught, but stress is placed on the preparation of homely dishes. At each lesson the pupils' luncheons or suppers for the next day are prepared. The tuition is about 25 cents a term.

Shakespeare's Plays Written in Japanese

Opening of Library at Waseda University and Stage Production to Mark Completion of Work After Forty-Three Years

Translation into Japanese of the complete works of William Shakespeare, numbering thirty-four different volumes, is the fruit of forty-three years of labor by Dr. Yuzo Tsubouchi, better known by his pen name Shoyo Tsubouchi, honorary professor of Waseda University and Japan's prominent dramatist and authority on literature of the East and West.

Japan may well be proud of the literary feat achieved by the best Shakespearean scholar it possesses, according to his pupils, who include the nation's prominent dramatists and men of letters. In fact, they say it is not too much to assert that his whole life has been devoted to the work of rendering the difficult Shakespearean dramas into proper Japanese.

In celebration of this event in the Japanese literary circles, the pupils of Dr. Tsubouchi have planned two things. The first is erection of a dramatic library in the compound of Waseda University. Work on the building already has been started on the library, the first of its kind in Japan, which is to be built on an elabrate scale, including a stage where plays may be performed.

The second act is the production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by the actors of the Tsukiji Little Theatre at the Imperial Theatre on five evenings. Music is to be furnished by Viscount Hidemaro Konoye's New Symphony Orchestra. Chorus will be by Mrs. Satoko Matsudaira's chorus, and dances will be by Mr. Kazuo Iwamura's troupe.

The admiration of the Japanese public for the remarkable work of the Shakespearean scholar is not so much for the long years he has spent at it, but for the accurate translation he has achieved throughout the volumes. It is one thing, his admirers say, to render many books into Japanese, but it is quite another to translate them into proper Japanese without wasting words or condensing the original.

The translation by Dr. Tsubouchi is recognized by the public as leaving nothing to be desired. Neither has he omitted any word nor added any which is not found in the original. Yet the dramas he translated do not leave any traces of translation, but are just like so many straight Japanese dramas.

Some admirers of Dr. Tsubouchi even go the length of saying that some of his translations have a better effect than the original. They also say that the spirit, dignity and tone of the Shakespearean dramas are well reflected.

STARTED IN 1885

Dr. Tsubouchi started his translation of the long Shakespearean series back in 1885, when he was twenty-six years old. He began with "Julius Caesar," but was too young at that time to publish an accurate translation. He gave up the first attempt and retranslated the book. Again and again he did not like it, and before the present volume was published he repeated the work four times. The complete works of Shakespeare which he translated and which have been published, follow:

"The Tempest," "The Two Gentlemen of Verona," "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "Measure for Measure," "The Comedy of Errors," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Love's Labor Lost," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "The Merchant of Venice," "As You Like It," "Taming of the Shrew," "All's Well That Ends Well," "Twelfth Night," "The Winter's Tales," "King John," "King Richard II," "King Henry IV—Part I. Part II. "King Henry V," "King Henry VI"—Part I. Part II. Part III, "King Richard III," "King Henry VIII," "Troilus and Cressida," "Coriolanus," "Titus Andronicus," "Romeo and Juliet," "Timon of Athens," "Julius Caesar," "Macbeth," "Hamlet," "King Lear," "Othello," "Antony and Cleopatra," "Cymbeline" and "Sonnets."

TRANSLATOR NOW 69

Dr. Tsubouchi is now sixty-nine years old. For years he has been the chief professor of literature at Waseda, and his lectures of Shakespeare always drew capacity audiences of students. Among his pupils are Mr. Kichizo Nakamura, prominent modern playwright; Mr. Ujaku Akita, novelist, who recently returned from a trip to Russia; Mr. Yusaka Yokoyama, professor of Waseda, and Mr. Shinjiro Miyajima.

The production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be the play's premiere in Japan, according to Mr. Kunitaro Takahashi, publicity director of the Tsukiji Little Theatre. In an interview recently he told a representative of The Trans-Pacific the fanciful comedy was chosen because it is appropriate to the season. The curtain will rise on the opening day at 5 o'clock, and for the rest of the run at 6 o'clock.

Acting will be in the foreign style. So will be music, dances and costuming and scenery. The only difference will be the language, which is to be Japanese. The drama will be given without any cutting. It is to be in nine scenes and five acts, and is, of course, the translation of Dr. Tsubouchi. The stage directors are Mr. Faoru Osanai, Mr. Shinsaku Aoyama and Mr. Yoshi Hijikata, prominent stage directors in Japan.

AT ALMOST 70, WINS $1,000 PHYSICAL CULTURE FIRST PRIZE

Can youth alone be physically perfect? No, physical perfection can be attained at any age. Dr. Jackson, a dying old man at fifty, learned how to live properly and at sixty-five captured the $1,000 Physical Culture first prize from all comers. He tells how in his 428 page book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL." It was largely due to living entirely upon Roman Meal for two whole years.

Roman Meal is alkali-forming, and thus it keeps our blood alkaline, as it must be if we are to be well. Civilization's foods are acid-forming. Roman Meal corrects the acids formed in our blood and keeps us well.

Dr. Jackson was dying from "acidosis" at fifty. Roman Meal normalized his acid blood and will do so for you. Write for his new uncooked Roman Meal recipe and a copy of his free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to Dr. Robt. G. Jackson, 315 Vine Ave., Toronto (9), Ont. (Advt.)

HEALTH CAMPAIGN ORGANIZED HERE

Dr. Murray Thomson Arrives From Eastern Canada to Take Charge of Programme

Already able to boast the lowest infant mortality of any city in the North American continent, Victoria promises shortly to improve her health statistics in other respects also. Dr. Murray G. Thomson, one of the pioneer movers in the Health League of Canada, has arrived in the city for the purpose of organizing the work here, and the health education programme which it is intended to carry out by means of movies, lectures, and distribution of literature should eventually, if the results in other parts of Canada are any gauge, result in greatly improved health, sanitary and social conditions.

Dr. Thomson reached the Island two or three weeks ago, but up to the present has been very busy organizing branches of the Health League at Nanaimo, Union Bay, and Duncan. Once the Vancouver Island Health League headquarters branch is organized in Victoria, which will not be until after the meetings to be held here on September 7 and 8, under the auspices of the Medical Society, immediate steps will be taken to begin a persistent campaign covering the whole field of health. Lectures by medical men and other accredited volunteers in diet, housing, sanitation, infectious and contagious diseases, the feeding of infants, etc., will ge given whenever and wherever opportunity offers.

AN IDEAL AUDIENCE

"The ideal audience is an audience of parents," says Dr. Thomson, for he maintains that the parents better than anyone else can train the character of the child. This is the only hope for the suppression and control of social diseases. The League is also out to combat the whole gamut of preventable diseases. Education is the best weapon with which to fight these. As an instance of the success of education in this direction Dr. Thomson quoted Winnipeg's League of Health, which has already nearly put the mosquito out of business by teaching the voters the necessity and means of extermination. In the same way they have campaigned for a pure milk supply with the idea of overcoming the annual Summer outbreak of typhoid, largely due to typhoid "carriers." In Alberta the League of Health has confined its efforts more particularly to the propaganda and education possible through the motion picture and health talks.

The Vancouver Island Health League, which is to be organized shortly under Dr. Thomson's personal direction, will be a unit of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council. Once the work is properly operating here organization of the Mainland will be undertaken, bringing British Columbia into line with Ontario, where the work was organized in 1919; Quebec, organized in 1924, and Manitoba and Alberta, organized by Dr. Thomson since 1925. Saskatchewan is carrying on its own health campaign under the Deputy Minister of Health, who has introduced a definite educational programme with the assistance of motion pictures and other aids of the kind.

CAMPAIGN EXTENDED

When the Social Hygiene Council came into being in 1919 with the special object of conducting a campaign for the control of social disease, it had the support of the Dominion Government, which for the first time admitted any responsibility in public health matters. It was not until after the Washington Conference of 1924, at which representatives from Canada, Great Britain and America were present, that the campaign was broadened out to include the whole field of general public health. One of the first of the great business organizations to recognize the value of this was the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which has been one of the most generous contributors to the funds of the organization. On purely business grounds this company has seen the value of health education in the preventive sense; keeping well is more economical than curing sickness. Other sources of revenue are the grants from the Dominion and Provincial Governments and private contributions. In Eastern Canada the last-mentioned are of increasingly generous character. In the West, however, the public does not seem quite so alive to the importance of preventive medicine just at present.

"The value of our work should eventually be felt more particularly in the rural communities," says Dr. Thomson, who paid a tribute to the pioneer endeavor of British Columbia and Quebec along these lines. These two provinces were the only ones in the Dominion at the present time which had established rural health centres, British Columbia's being in Saanich and the Okanagan. Such foundations were of incalculable value to any rural community, not only resulting in the dispensing with the support of big isolation hospitals, but saving the parents the anxiety and expense of much sickness in the family.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs. Stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals, with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use. (Advt.)

LIQUOR POLICY IS EMPHASIZED BY GOV. SMITH

Democratic Candidate for President Repeats and Enlarges Upon Declaration Against Prohibition

FOR LEGAL SALE BUT NO SALOONS

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Governor Alfred Smith of New York was officially notified here this evening of his nomination as Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States, and in an acceptance speech informed the nation where he stood on the issues of the day.

On most questions he took virtually the same position as Mr. Hoover. As to farm relief, for instance, he emphasized the need for co-operative, co-ordinated marketing and warehousing of surplus farm products, expressed the view that the Democratic platform "points the way to make the tariff effective for crops of which we produce a surplus."

"Only the mechanics remain to be devised," said Mr. Smith, reaffirming an intention of seeking the aid of farmers, economists and leaders in finance and business in the working out of an economically sound solution of the problem of handling crop surpluses.

But he attacked the policy of intervention in Nicaragua, and on prohibition he took a decided stand.

Governor Smith said he never would advocate or approve any law which directly or indirectly would permit a return of the saloon, and sale of intoxicants by state agencies was proposed by him as an alternative.

Declaring the President of the United States had two constitutional duties with respect to prohibition—enforcement of the law and determination of what changes, if any, should be recommended to Congress—the nominee made this pledge:

"I shall to the very limit execute the pledge of our platform 'to make an honest endeavor to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other provisions of the Federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto.'"

PROHIBITION

Insisting the present legal definition of the alcoholic content of an intoxicating beverage was "admittedly inaccurate and unscientific," Governor Smith expressed the view that "some immediate relief would come from an amendment to the Volstead Law" which would permit each state to fix its own standard of alcoholic content, "subject always to the proviso that that standard could not exceed the maximum fixed by Congress."

"I believe, moreover, that there should be submitted to the people the question of some change in the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment," the nominee went on. "Certainly, no one foresaw when the amendment was ratified the conditions which exist today of bootlegging, corruption and open violation of the law in all parts of the country. The people themselves should, after this eight years of trial, be permitted to say whether existing conditions should be rectified.

AS IN CANADA

"I personally believe in an amendment in the Eighteenth Amendment which would give to each individual state itself, only after approval by a referendum popular vote of its people, the right, wholly within its borders, to import, manufacture or cause to be manufactured, and sell alcoholic beverages, the sale to be made only by the state itself and not for consumption in any public place.

"We may well learn from the experience of other nations. Our Canadian neighbors have gone far in this manner to solve this problem by the method of sale by the state itself and not by private individuals."

Premier Tolmie Will Be Rotary Speaker Today

HON. DR. S. F. TOLMIE, Premier of British Columbia, will address the members of the Victoria Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon today at 12:10 p.m. in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. President Herbert Anscomb will preside.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education; Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P.; Mr. James H. Beatty, M.P.P., and Mr. H. Despard Twigg, M.P.P., the four members representing Victoria in the Provincial Legislature, will also be guests of the Rotary Club at today's meeting.

HON. F. P. BURDEN WILL RETURN

Called to Victoria to Take Portfolio While on Way Home to Prince George

Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, left yesterday for his home in Prince George for the purpose of attending to some matters of private business before moving to Victoria permanently to enter upon his official duties.

At the meeting of the executive council yesterday, the first one since the swearing in of the Cabinet, Hon. Nelson S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, was named as Acting Minister of Lands during the absence of Mr. Burden.

The case of Mr. Burden and his call to the Cabinet is a rather interesting one. He was called to perform his duties to the Government in something of the manner of a Cincinnatus. It was clearly the job seeking the man.

Mr. Burden has been in the East some little time, following the election, in the discharge of business with which he was connected. It was while on his way back that he was intercepted with a call, to come on to Victoria, which he did by diverting his course, and so on Sunday afternoon last, he and Mrs. Burden arrived in the capital to be informed that his services were required by the prospective Premier.

He is now on his way to Prince George, where he had expected to be some days ago. He will, however, arrive home as a minister of the Crown, which was rather unexpected when he set out on his trip to the East.

G. W. MASSIE IS RELEASED

Four Charges of Fraud Preferred Against Accused Are Withdrawn in Police Court

Withdrawal of four charges of fraud against George W. Massie took place yesterday in the city police court before Magistrate George Jay, and the accused, Massie, was released. Mr. Ernest L. Tait, appearing for the Bank of Montreal, stated that there had been no intent to defraud. Mr. Richard C. Lowe, appearing for G. H. Patton, said his client was agreeable to dismissal on the same grounds. His Honor then discharged Massie. Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., was counsel for the accused.

The case of Peter Lanchick, charged with driving his automobile to the common danger on Douglas Street on August 21, was further adjourned until next Tuesday at the request of Mr. Richard C. Lowe, counsel for the defendant.

Nelson Bourget was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded until this morning. Dorothy Fraser, who was similarly charged, was also remanded until today.

Dr. W. E. Mitchell paid the court a fine of $5 for failing to bring his automobile to a full stop upon entering an arterial highway. Alfred Plimley was fined $5 for failing to produce his driver's licence upon the demand of a police officer.

POULTRY JUDGING COMPETITION SET THIS AFTERNOON

The Island division of the Provincial Boys' and Girls' Poultry Clubs will hold a judging competition for its members in the poultry building at 2 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. Contestants from Sooke, Lake Hill, Shawnigan Lake, Vimy, Duncan, and other Up-Island points will compete. The competition is being promoted by the B.C. Poultry Association, and will be supervised by the Rev. C. McDiarmid, who is at present judging part of the poultry show, and Mr. J. R. Terry. The competition is to be followed by demonstrations.

Two boys recently told the London County Council that with a child's ticket costing twelve cents they rode on street cars for fifteen and one-quarter hours, exclusive of time for meals.

FINE DISPLAY IS MADE AT FAIR

Honey Exhibit Shows Growth of Beekeeping During Recent Months

The honey exhibit at the Fair this year deserves special mention, and does ample justice to the enthusiastic beekeepers who have sent in exhibits from all parts of Vancouver Island. The pyramids of golden honey of all shades of amber, the dainty sections of comb honey as well as that put up in glass are most attractive.

The blue ribbon goes to Alberni for light honey with three entries, with close seconds from the Cowichan districts. Attractive displays have taken first and second prizes put up by ladies from the Mainland, and a special feature is made of granulated honey which calls forth many amusing comments, it being the general opinion that unless honey is quite clear there is something wrong; when in reality the granulation of honey is a sure sign of its purity. This year, for some reason, the honey is granulating earlier than usual, and there are some very excellent examples of this year's honey which has granulated within three weeks from the time it was taken from the hives. This is of the consistency of peanut butter and is a very delicious way of eating honey.

Chunk honey, honey vinegar and beeswax are also well represented. Other first prizes go to Saanich, Cowichan and Sooke.

An interesting example of the middle entrance hive originated by a beekeeper near Ladysmith takes first prize for "any useful invention or appliance in connection with beekeeping." This is a novel idea which is being taken up by the experts, and more will no doubt be heard of this later on when it has been thoroughly tried out.

Close to the honey exhibit motion pictures are being shown by the Department of Agriculture, depicting modern methods of beekeeping as practised at Dean Bros.' apiary at Keating. All beekeepers should make a point of visiting this honey exhibit, where they will be able to discuss all the up-to-date appliances and learn the conditions and prospects of the various points and locations for beekeepers on the Island.

The British Columbia Honey Producers' Association, under whose management the exhibit is displayed, are also offering special terms for members joining the association during Exhibition Week, and beekeepers who wish to keep up with the times are advised to avail themselves of this offer.

Mr. H. D. Reid Is Chosen as Representative of Western Canada to American Poultry Ass'n

At the recent meeting of the British Columbia Poultry Association in Vancouver, the felicitations of the association were extended to Mr. H. D. Reid, of Victoria, upon his election as representative of Western Canada, to the American Poultry Association annual meeting now being held at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. It is interesting to note that Mr. Reid's father judged poultry at the Saanich Fair sixty years ago.

It was decided to hold the Provincial Poultry Show at the Vancouver Fat Stock Show in December next.

Several of the Interior delegates reported that excellent wheat was for sale in the Interior, the price at present ranging from twenty-seven to twenty-eight dollars per ton for good hard wheat.

Wage increases among building construction men are expected in Belgium.

"Seeing skinny folks like that couple makes me think of the time when I was the same way. Remember how puny I was; how I hated to go anywhere because I knew people made fun of me behind my back. I didn't realize it then, but it robbed me of the confidence I have in myself now.

"It sure was a lucky day for me when I heard how this new medicine called Husky puts solid, stay-there flesh on skinny bodies; fills out hollow cheeks and puts the color of robust health in them; and brings up your vitality. I wouldn't be without it if I had to pay $100.00 a bottle for it."

Nine out of every ten sickly, skinny, timid men and women could round out their bodies, faces, legs and arms by letting Husky keep excessive acidity and gas from robbing their blood of the red corpuscles it must have to keep it from becoming thin and watery. Your blood must be rich to build tissue and muscles. The only way to keep it that way is to make every bite of food you eat supply the vitamines which keep plenty of red corpuscles in your blood. A sour stomach turns your food to acid and gas. Heartburn, Indigestion, Sour Risings, Bad Breath and Belching are some of the most certain signs which warn you.

Husky is worth its weight in gold to the more than half a million people who are already depending on it to keep their stomach sound and sweet so every bite of food they eat, counts. Food is too expensive to waste. Your health is too precious to neglect. All drug stores sell Husky.

Traffic on B.C. Airways Plane Breaks Record

Tuesday witnessed the peak passenger traffic so far on the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle aerial service of the B.C. Airways. Fifty-five passengers were carried on the big three-motored, all-metal fourteen-passenger Ford monoplane during the day.

The volume of traffic over the airways so far has followed a well-defined curve rising to a maximum height during the week-end and falling on Monday and Tuesday.

The fact that the curve was broken this week, the rush of travel having begun at the beginning of the week, is indication of the rapidly growing popularity of the B.C. Airways service.

Yesterday the first passenger to fly from Vancouver to Victoria to make connections with a Canadian-Australasian liner here, Miss A. McFarlane, left Vancouver at 5:15 p.m., more than five hours after the Aorangi had left the Mainland port, and arrived here at 6 p.m., just fifteen minutes after the liner arrived, and two and one-quarter hours before she sailed for the Antipodes.

Miss McFarlane is en route to her home in Honolulu.

She was delighted with her aerial voyage.

"It was my first trip in an airplane—and it was wonderful!" she declared, after her arrival here. "I would not have missed it for anything."

LORD LOVAT'S VISIT

The visit here of Lord Lovat, chairman of Britain's Overseas Settlement Committee, should be the means of accomplishing something in the way of speeding up immigration to Canada from the British Isles. While he is in British Columbia the Government should talk over the matter of settlement with him, for there are thousands upon thousands of acres of land in this Province awaiting population. Lord Lovat is in a peculiarly practical position to deal with the question of immigration. The British Government, through the Empire Settlement Board, has voted fifteen millions annually for settlement overseas, and this money has been accumulating, for only a fraction of it has been spent. Lord Lovat can deal with definite projects which may be brought before his notice. As one commentator on the importance of his mission to Canada says, "he can talk in pounds, shillings and pence."

Where the Government of British Columbia can benefit by his coming is in outlining a settlement policy which would lead to the peopling of land contiguous to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The future of that railway lies in the development of settlement and the consequent increase in traffic. This is a phase of settlement in which the administration here can co-operate with the Empire Settlement Board. It is a matter which, we believe, could be arranged without any particular reference to the Federal authorities, and without taking into consideration what views may be held by Ottawa on the subject of British immigration. From the experience of recent years it is plain that if British Columbia is to people its vacant lands it must rely very largely on its own initiative. If it can enter into an arrangement with the Empire Settlement Board so much the better, for that body has the money to promote emigration from Britain to British Columbia. Lord Lovat's visit happens fortunately and can be made to insure fortunate consequences for British Columbia. There is no question as to the attitude of the new Government here on the subject of British immigration, which can be promoted towards the end of solving the problem of the Pacific Great Eastern as a settlement road.

CANADA'S RESOURCES

Canada is prosperous, very prosperous in a sense, but not nearly as prosperous as she ought to be, and would be under an amended fiscal administration. Despite all the prosperity we have, the raw materials of the Dominion are being shipped to foreign countries, there to be translated into the manufactured articles. In other words, foreign workmen are benefitting instead of our own workmen. It is not only the foreign workmen who are reaping the rewards of Canada's resources but foreign railways and foreign ports are getting traffic which should rightfully belong to this Dominion.

There is a Conservation Commission in Canada. What is it doing to conserve the development of our resources for ourselves? It evidently has little or no influence with the Government at Ottawa. The great need is protection, not only for our manufacturing industries but also for our raw resources so as to prevent their being taken abroad and the profits which ensue from their manufacture being lost to Canada. We are helping our rivals in trade too much to our own detriment.

SEAMEN AND SAIL-TRAINING

The newly-formed Company of Master Mariners of Britain is taking the welfare of the great profession very much to heart. It is warmly pressing upon the great British steamship companies the necessity of manning their fleets with sail-trained seamen. Although funnels and wireless aerials have replaced the towering yards with their piles of sails, all seafaring men realize that the youth trained in sail makes the best seaman. The trouble has been to find a training ship. The two British cadet ships, the Mersey and the Port Jackson, disappeared some years ago. Out of all Great Britain's mighty fleet of clippers, no more than one sad survivor remains —the veteran Garthpool. Britain's other deep water windjammer, the William Mitchell, was sold to the scrappers the other day. Today there is only a single ship in which British boys can receive a little training in the ancient craft of sail-and-spar. She is a little ketch, the Maisie Graham, formerly a pilot cutter, and now maintained through the generosity of a Yorkshire gentleman.

It is probable that if the shipping companies approve the scheme proposed by the Master Mariners a new sailing ship will be built. The new training ship will most likely be subsidized, thinks The Weekly Telegraph, by one or more of the big companies, and she will form the school which the companies will draw upon for their young officers. Continental shipping concerns are already convinced of the virtues of such a scheme. The Vaterland, a big German four-masted barque, which recently completed a world-wide voyage under the former captain of the raider Emden, is essentially an exhibition ship—touring the ports of the world with an exhibition of German manufactures. Actually she is one of the ships in which Germany is training boys for the personnel of her sail-trained mercantile marine. Two other schoolships are in commission. It is said that when the supply of sail-trained youths becomes assured, Germany will grant navigating officers' certificates only to those who have been so trained. Another striking ship devoted to the same purpose is the beautiful Viking. She is a Danish four-masted barque making voyages to the nitrate ports of South America. The Viking, however, is entirely manned by youngsters who will eventually become officers in Denmark's navy and mercantile marine. It will be foreign indeed to British sea traditions if the Old Country does not see her way to equal, at least, the determined effort of other countries to make seamen on the traditional lines.

"THE OPEN WOUND"

In view of the fact that Canada's population is supposed to grow through immigration as well as by natural increase the figures just published by the Federal Bureau of Statistics are not particularly encouraging. Quebec's population is given as 2,647,000, or 43,000 more than twelve months ago. Ontario's increase is from 3,187,000 in 1927 to 3,229,000 in 1928. In the twelve months Saskatchewan has made a gain of 15,000, Alberta of 14,000, Manitoba of 8,000 and British Columbia of 8,000. The population of Prince Edward Island remains the same, while Nova Scotia has increased by 4,000 and New Brunswick by the same amount. The net gain in Canada has been 139,000 people in twelve months. This is a bad showing when natural increase is added to immigration figures. The exodus of our people to the United States is still in progress. As La Patrie says, "The open wound of the country is still bleeding, and each year we are losing a part of our best blood."

On this continent an impression seems to exist that the people of the United States are the wealthiest per capita in the world. The belief has been spread assiduously that American wealth is so great and is distributed so well per capita that in that way as well as in all others the United States is a leader. Figures disprove this. New Zealand heads the list in the order of per capita wealth, with Switzerland second. Then in order come the United States, Roumania, Great Britain, Canada and Australia. In commenting on the figures The Washington Post says that apparently thrift has a lot to do with the per capita ranking. That newspaper regards it as strange that the United States, with its "unparalleled resources" and its great prosperity taken as a whole, does not make a better showing, and hints at the possibility of extravagance being the reason.

Nordic supremacy received little encouragement from the result of the Marathon race, the great endurance contest of the Olympic Games. An Arab finished first, a Chilean second and a Japanese fourth. The New York Herald-Tribune says that perhaps after all this idea of Nordic supremacy, "is a species of whistling in the dark."

ELLEN TERRY

For her power as actress we must look through her swift and subtle perceptions of fun and pity and truth to the quality which was the making also of her great partner in art. It is often called personality, but vitality would be as good a name. In him it was dominating, sardonic, not a little terrifying. In her it was an enchanting womanhood. The weaker side of it was that innocent and childlike wilfulness which was the source of some unconventionality in her life and of some uncertainty in her acting. The strong side of it was the personal quality which made her the ideal impersonator of the heroines of Shakespeare's comedies—wise, gallant, humorous women like herself. It is true that in all her best years she was the by no means servile but always loyal and devoted helpmeet of a man whose plans restricted her scope of parts; but what better could she have than the parts she played at the Lyceum? She was nearest to perfection in Portia and in Beatrice—those Meredithian (as we might call them now) great ladies of wit and womanliness. Yet it may be that her surer claim to the greatness which is so rare in acting lay in her power of saying the simple things—Cordelia's "No cause, no cause"; Imogen's "I am sick still—heart sick"; and this of Hermione to Leontes:

Adieu, my lord:
I never wish'd to see you sorry; now
I trust I shall.

Beyond the beauty of her face, her hair, her movements, and all the entrancing airs and graces of her indefeasible youth lay the profounder beauty of a nature that could comprehend and share the deepest, simplest feeling. In this she was more than mere actress; and because of this she seemed not so much to impersonate as to be the woman whom Shakespeare drew.—London Times.

A STORY

All her life, gently she longed
For radiance. But they told
Her tales of stern virtue's reward
And comfort when one is old.

So chastened and patient she sat
And bated with eager breath
Til weariness crept to her side—
Her only adventure was death.

TEN-HOUR FLYING COURSE FINISHED

Mere Kindergarten Work in Aviation, but Worth While, Says Student

By DON BROWN
(Copyright by The North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEWARK - ELIZABETH AIRPORT, Aug. 21.—Today I completed my ten-hour flying course with a forty-minute hop, my second solo flight.

In concluding this course and this series of articles, I wish to give the aviation fan or the prospective flying student an idea of just how much can be learned during this period and how much he may expect from a bona-fide flying school.

In the first place, it is not even possible to get a private pilot's licence without this amount of training. You must have, under the new Department of Commerce regulations, at least ten hours of solo work in addition to your first hours of dual instruction, in which the instructor rides with you to correct your mistakes and give you advice. And the average school is in no hurry at all to start you on a solo. They value their planes too highly to risk having them washed out by a half-trained student.

KINDERGARTEN WORK

What you learn during this period seems to be a great deal, against your former ignorance and lack of skill, but compared to the knowledge and technique of, say a licenced transport pilot, it is as a kindergarten compared to Oxford or Harvard. But if you want to learn to fly, you have to go through this elemental training, just as any great war ace or present-day air hero did.

Unless you are a genius of aviation you are apt to come out of it with little more than just enough confidence to take you on to the next training.

Passing over the qualifications of good eyesight, a strong heart and steady nerves, I can suggest that the most necessary thing in learning to be a pilot is a strong love for flying.

If you have this, even though you may get yourself into places where you will be genuinely scared for a while, you will come out feeling more and more confident of yourself and your ability to learn to fly.

PICK RIGHT SCHOOL

The most important thing, of course, is to be careful in selecting your flying school. There are plenty of them in the country now which guarantee to do all sorts of wonders for you.

In some of the cheaper magazines you will find expensively illustrated advertisements promising to have you safe on the road to fame and fortune via the air in from twenty to forty days.

To a person with common sense enough to learn to fly, the extravagance of such promises will show up the promisers as the fakes they are.

The majority of schools are making a sincere effort to give their students honest training, and most of them promise nothing in the way of solos or other achievements.

The best thing to do, if you have no friends who are already in the flying game, is to make a quiet but thorough investigation of the school you plan to sign up with.

If they have been doing good work in the past, and their present students seem satisfied with the treatment they are receiving, you can be reasonably safe in tying up with them. If there is something wrong, the students who have paid their money and who have not got what they consider square dealing will be quick to tell you.

WELL WORTH PRICE

Once you get started flying with the right sort of school, though, I can promise you this: You won't regret a minute of the time you've spent in learning to fly. It's worth every dollar of the money it will cose you.

Aviation is a great game, and those who love it have a real reward for the hardships and dangers which they experience.

ROMAN CATHOLIC PLOT IS ALLEGED

Mexican Government Makes Arrests in Connection With Death of General Obregon

MEXICO CITY, Aug 22.—Seven women and one man, all Roman Catholics, were under arrest today accused of having conspired to kill President Calles as well as the late President-elect General Obregon.

Mother Superior Conception de la Lata, in custody since the murder of General Obregon in July, is charged with having been the chief plotter. The police declared the conspirators planned to kill the two officials last April by pricking them with a poisoned pin at a dance which they attended in Celaya.

This plan, as well at the latter plot to bomb a bridge near Celaya over which Obregon and Calles were to pass, was abandoned as impracticable, it is alleged, but the conspirators continued their efforts and succeeded in slaying Obregon.

The police attribute to Rafael Enrique Vidal, twenty-two-year-old law student who is one of those arrested, the statement that he was invited to join the group, being promised entrance to heaven if he should become one of the martyrs.

In a signed statement, Chief of Police Antonio Zertuche said that Vidal and others among those arrested made confessions Vidal, he declared, told of the Mother Superior showing him pictures of young men executed for religious activities and expressing her determination to organize another group of martyrs.

Coquitlam Shortage

MAILLARDVILLE, B.C., Aug. 22.—At a meeting of the Coquitlam municipal council, J. Graham, special auditor from New Westminster, reported that a total shortage of $10,663 was discovered in the municipal cash records from March, 1918, until the end of 1927. He explained this does not include $2,375 paid by R. Newman, former municipal clerk, now awaiting trial, charged with appropriating public money. Mr. Graham said several of the items might be explained, but in the absence of explanations, he included them all.

THE PRICE OF BREAD

Sir,—Yesterday there appeared a short letter commenting on the relative costs of bread here and in the Old Country, the price of a four-pound loaf in the Old Country being 16 cents and the same weight of bread here 30 cents to 34 cents.

Here, then, is a question that is vital to all of us as consumers, especially to those who are finding it somewhat difficult to spread their earnings over the necessities of living. A matter so affecting the daily material welfare of the community would, one would imagine, secure the interest of and elicit the support of those able wielders of the pen who write so fluently on the "Origin of Species" or "The Fall of Man"; but no, whilst we are entertained to columns of able writings on abstract subjects, which most of us admit do affect our spiritual welfare in this world and the next, yet why is such a subject as the price of our daily bread ignored?

We have wheat pools, fruit boards and egg commissions to stabilize prices and secure a fair return to the producer, which are all right and proper; but we hear precious little of the protection of the consumer. As a producer I found that from the spread in price between what I was paid and what I had to pay in a retail store for the same article of food, some person or persons were having fairly large bites of the profits.

Is there any organization which can give us accurate facts and figures of the costings from the wheat fields to the bakeries.

Why, in the greatest wheat-producing country in the world, should the price of bread, both here and further East, be so much more than it is in the Old Country? Let us remember that a reduction in the price of bread would be of benefit to everyone, for is it not the "Staff of Life."

CHINA INLAND MISSION

Sir,—A sum of $28 having been duly received by me for the China Inland Mission from an anonymous donor, I acknowledge receipt through the courtesy of your columns. Thanking you in anticipation.

SUNDAY GOLF

Sir,—I am greatly pained to see that the golf championship is to be played on Sunday at Colwood. Surely the lovers of this game are not so blind to the value of the Day of Rest as to compel so many as will thus of necessity be robbed of its privileges, to surrender them.

THOS. W. GLADSTONE.
108 Joseph Street, Victoria, B.C., August 21, 1928.

PIONEER CLERGY

Sir,—With reference to an article in last Sunday's Colonist describing the Anglican Church work at Alert Bay, I notice that no mention is made of the pioneer missionary, Rev. A. J. Hall, B.D., to whom the opening up of this important mission is due. Mr. Hall was in charge of the work for many years, and during his ministry to the Indians he succeeded, in reducing the language to a written form and made valuable translations of the Bible, Prayer Book and many hymns. The Province of British Columbia owes much to men like the Rev. A. J. Hall and the other pioneer clergy who came out from the Old Country over fifty years ago, to live among the Indians and seek to win them to Christianity.

In the ultimate scheme for completing the eastern part of the cathedral at Victoria, it is intended to provide a memorial chapel, in which the names of these men, and women, will be forever preserved. There surely should be some such memorial in the Capital City.

In Christ Church, Alert Bay, a proposal is on foot to put a stained glass window at the east end as a memorial to the life work of the Rev. A. J. Hall and Mrs. Hall.

EDWARD P. LAYCOCK.
912 Vancouver Street, Victoria, B.C., August 21, 1928.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

VINES

There are scars on the trunk of the great oak tree
Where the hand of the storm was laid,
Like a record, written for all to see,
Though the oak stands unafraid.

But the vines have come, with their tender green,
They are clinging and brave and kind,
And they weave for the oak tree their vivid screen
Till its blemish no eye can find.

There are scars scrawled deep on the heart and mind,
Such scars as no years efface;
But when love comes trailing its tendrils kind
It can cover each cruel trace.

GRIZZLY ATTACKS CRANBROOK MAN

CRANBROOK, Aug 22.—When he came between a grizzly bear and her two cubs, J. T. Davies, of Kitchener, was attacked by the big animal and so badly mauled that he had to be removed to St. Euguene Hospital here. Following the accident he had been forced to spend the night in the woods until he was found the following day.

The attack occurred four miles from the railway, near Kitchener. The two cubs were playing in a small stream, and when Davies went close to them to watch their antics, the mother attacked him from the nearby woods.

DOVES HATCH IN CATHEDRAL

Follow Example of Robins, and Offspring Begins Life in Odor of Sanctity — Big Demand for Pictures

VISITORS' BOOK APPRECIATED

Envious, perhaps, of the care and subsequent popularity given to the robins who built a nest and hatched their young near a pillar, twenty-six feet high, in the south aisle of the new Christ Church Cathedral, a pair of doves chose the opposite pillar as a nesting place and now the bright eyes of two young doves may sometimes be seen peering over the edge of the half-pillar against the east wall of the nave. For some months past a white dove has been flying in and out of the open windows, while others have been noticed around the building. The nest was observed some weeks back, and now the young are safely hatched.

As one result of opening the cathedral to the public on the last two Sunday afternoons, there has been a fresh demand for photographs of the robin's nest. A new supply of photographs has been obtained, and from today copies may be secured at the Memorial Hall, 912 Vancouver Street, or at Litchfield's, 1109 Government Street. An enlarged picture, showing the robin sitting on its nest a few inches from the pillar of the nave, with the scaffolding around, is on view at Messrs. Litchfield's store.

FROM FIVE CONTINENTS

An official "visitors' book" has been in use at the new cathedral for two weeks only, the first entry being dated August 7, but the book contains already several hundred signatures, with addresses naming seventy-five different places. There are addresses from Africa, China, England, New Zealand and the Philippine Islands; from every province in Canada, and seven states in the United States. Twenty-five places of residence in British Columbia are included.

In view of the evident interest taken by both residents and visitors in the construction of the cathedral, it has been decided to open the building also on next Sunday afternoon.

REFRIGERATORS ARE EXHIBITED

B.C. Electric Railway Has Fine Display of Household Aids at Exhibition

Using a gas flame to produce freezing temperatures may seem rather an unsual, and even roundabout way of doing things. Actually it is a very simple and perfectly straightforward procedure, especially as applied to the operation of an Electrolux refrigerator. This type of refrigerator is one of the novel items comprising the combination gas-electric exhibit staged by the B.C. Electric Railway Company at the Provincial Exhibition. Two other types of refrigerators are also shown, the General Electric and the Servel. These two appliances accomplish exactly the same end as the Electrolux, but by a rather different route.

In addition to these items the company is showing the latest in Moffat electric ranges, the famous royal cleaner that literally enables one to "paint-up and clean-up" electrically, as well as several beautiful designs in gas fires, examples of the Clark Jewel gas ranges with the well-known Lorrain oven heat regulator, and a novel type of gas water heater that will provide an abundant and economic hot water service for the average home.

Among the smaller appliances for table use, there is an excellent assortment of toasters, percolators, hot plates, irons, etc.

The exhibit is attracting many visitors, and the company's representatives in charge are kept busy explaining and demonstrating the use of the various items.

NEXT FESTIVAL IS DISCUSSED

Directors of Victoria Musical Association in Session—Committee Reports Heard

A meeting of the directors of the Victoria Musical Association was held last evening in the committee room in the City Hall, the president, Mr. George Watson, being in the chair. Reports of the various committees for the 1929 Musical Festival were heard, several of these committees having been hard at work during the Summer.

The syllabus committee suggested a few new classes added to the competitions of last year—the one of perhaps the most universal interest being that of folk dancing. This class was introduced in the B.C. Musical Festival last year and proved one of the most attractive and popular classes. A few other minor changes only had been made. The music selections committee reported their work still incomplete. It is expected, however, that it will be completed by the next meeting in September. The finance committee presented a tentative budget, which gave some idea of the work necessary along the various lines to finance the festival next Spring. That committee will soon have books of membership tickets ready. The tickets will be the same price as formerly, but last night's meeting decided that all holders of these membership tickets would at the next festival, in addition to all the day sessions, be admitted in the evenings (except the final concert) at half price. The directors considered that this move would be so thoroughly appreciated that the membership of the association would be easily more than doubled.

The greater part of the meeting last night, however, was given over to the discussion of possible adjudicators. This is a most important part of the work of the committee, as so much of the success of the festival depends upon the adjudicators chosen. No final decision, however, was reached, as replies have not yet been received from all to whom letters have been sent. New names were suggested to the committee.

Mr. Waddington Joins Vancouver Teaching Staff

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—The Vancouver School Board has appointed Fred Waddington, of Victoria, musical supervisor of Vancouver public schools at a salary of $2,400 a year. Mr. Waddington will succeed the late Mr. Fred W. Dyke.

Mr. Waddington is well known in this city for his ability in the training of boys' and girls' choirs. For a number of years his choir, composed of boys and girls from the Esquimalt schools, took an active part in the musical activities of this city. He was later appointed to the Victoria teaching staff, and trained choirs at the various public schools, several of them taking part in the last musical festival held by the Victoria Musical Festival Association. For a number of years he was conductor of the City Temple Choir. For the past two years he has had charge of one department of the music course in connection with the provincial Summer school for teachers, achieving striking results in the short five weeks at his disposal at this time.

Although musical pedagogy is the field in which he has specialized, Mr. Waddington has enjoyed considerable reputation as a baritone soloist, and at one time appeared quite frequently on the local concert platform. His association with Esquimalt School began as teacher of manual training, but his keen interest in music led him to organize the children's choir, which called attention to his unusual ability in this work.

One King's Son

VIENNA, Aug. 22.—A man who told authorities that he was a son of Alfonso XII of Spain and a half-brother of the present king of that country, has proved his points sufficiently to be freed of a charge of false registration with the police.

He produced a United States passport issued at Washington, D.C., March 27, 1927, in the name of Don Luis De Bourbon, and a baptismal certificate of St. Patrick's Parish, New York, in the same name. The certificate said that the bearer was the son of Alfonso XII, and an unknown mother, but the accused supplied the information that his mother was a French women morganatically married to the king.

CATTLE ARE FINE SECTION OF DISPLAY

Leading Herds of B.C. Are Represented at Provincial Exhibition With Finest Examples of Grade Stock

SHEEP AND SWINE ARE STRONG LINE

Yesterday the judging in the cattle classes at the Victoria Provincial Exhibition was completed, and on all sides the general opinion was voiced that this year provided not only the best show of dairy and beef cattle ever seen in Victoria, but a show which for quality could be hardly beaten anywhere. Despite strong outside competition, the major awards in the milk classes of cattle were largely retained locally, and the powerful entries of Jerseys contained fine animals, some of which were maintaining an unbroken record.

The Jersey exhibit was very much larger than last year, and contained the very interesting entry of Mrs. Edna L. Knight, of Willows, Cal., who maintains in the South what is probably the largest herds on the Pacific Coast. Not only was this lady successful in the show ring, but "put on" her exhibit in a most attractive manner, the stalls containing her thirty-three head of cattle being draped and festooned in red and green and each animal being provided with a rug of similar colors with "Willowmeadow Farm" inscribed on each. Before her exhibit in the parade was carried an elaborate banner, and one of the stalls beside her herd was fitted up as a reception room with furniture matching the color scheme of this exhibit. This touch of color in the cattle barns not unnaturally attracted a good deal of attention to a herd which, however, was capable of catching the judge's eye without all these trimmings when out in the show ring, and annexed the junior champion bull as well as ten first prizes which included first in herds and groups. This show herd, which represents a farm of some 700 head, is visiting seventeen shows this year, of which Victoria is the fifth. Mr. J. B. Starr is herd manager.

THE GLAMORGAN JERSEYS

Mr. J. S. H. Matson's entry of Jerseys from Glamorgan Farm was again a strong feature of the dairy cattle section, and consisted of a fine display of young cattle all bred on the farm with the exception of the herd sire, Pedro of Beauchamp, imported from Jersey in 1925. The senior herd sire, Glamorgan Volunteer, imported in dam, took senior and grand champion and first aged bull, sustaining his record of being unbeaten wherever shown. Pedro of Beauchamp took second aged bull, and another fine bull from this herd, Glamorgan Juno's Boy, took first two-year-old and reserved senior champion. This herd was a fine entry of typical Jersey cattle of some twenty head under the care of W. H. Lowe.

MESSRS. SPENCERS' HERD

Messrs. David Spencer's herd from Port Haney, B.C., in charge of C. D. Mackenzie, consisting of eighteen head, included Glamorgan Aggie, winning senior and grand champion cow, maintaining her record as grand champion carried through the Prairie fairs this year. This string, which is headed by Bowlima's Noble Sultan, who won second two-year-old, took altogether seven firsts and ten seconds.

Other good exhibits among the Jerseys included a small herd from Mr. Alex. Gillespie from Glenairley Farm, East Sooke, which was headed by Glenmorgan Flyer, son of Faanfalucia and Corkscrew, which took second bull calf with Glamorgan's son, Glenairley Golden Flyer. This herd also took a prize with a son and daughter of the herd sire as progeny of one cow.

Mr. Brooks, of Saanich, received the award for third bull; Mr. A. Wright, of Keating, took second for senior yearling bull, and Mr. C. H. Hawkins, of the Elderslie Jersey herd, of Crofton, took prizes for fourth cow and cow and calf.

Mr. A. E. Dunvill sent a very fine herd, and was well represented on the prize list.

GUERNSEYS AND SHORTHORNS

Mr. Charles Hawthorne, of Chilliwack, had again a splendid herd of Guernseys, consisting of seventeen head, among which were distributed twelve first and eight second prizes. He secured grand champion female and grand champion and second champion bull. The Annacis Guernseys exhibited by Mr. Allister Forbes, of Cobble Hill, took first champion junior heifer, and the awards to this herd included eight firsts and seven second prizes. A remarkably fine herd of dual purpose shorthorns from Mrs. Turner, of Cadboro Bay, won one grand champion, three champions and eleven first awards, and Mr. Esplin's herd of Shorthorns was awarded thirteen first prizes, together with one grand champion and one champion.

ABERDEEN ANGUS

The Aberdeen Angus from the Glenearnock Farm, Brandon, Man., shown by Mr. James D. McGregor, were indeed a fine exhibit, and secured fourteen first prizes and grand champion for both male and female. Mr. John Brown is in charge of this fine herd. The Vauxhall Stock Farm, Alberta, was awarded two reserve champions and fourteen second prizes.

A strong entry of Red Poll cattle was from Waby & Sons, of Enderby, B.C., who were awarded grand champion bull and first prize for Charmer's Choice and grand champion female for Blooming Rose. Thirteen first prizes were won by this herd of thirteen head.

Red Poll cattle from F. H. Porter, of Eugene, Ore., took six first prizes with three grand champions.

HOLSTEINS

Among the Holsteins was the Stanhope Dairy entry from Cadboro Bay, which took a number of prizes.

C.P.R. HERD

The big exhibit among these dairy cattle, however, was the C.P.R. herd, representing over 600 cattle which the company keeps to supply milk to the system west of Winnipeg. This herd took first and grand champion bull, three other champions and twelve first and eight second prizes.

Holstein Friesians are a strong entry from the Colony Farm at Essondale, and were awarded eight first prizes as well as grand champion cow for Colony Madam Koba.

The Warfield Ayrshires were a splendid and picturesque exhibit, and took fourteen firsts as well as being awarded grand champion bull and grand champion cow, also junior champion bull and heifer as well as first for young herd and first for senior herd. The herd bull, Macdonald Competitor III, has not been beaten this year.

Mr. Dunwaters' Fintry Ayrshires took five first and eight second prizes.

"If Genuine"

ABERDEEN, Wn., Aug. 22.—An almost obliterated message floating in a small perfume bottle, which, if genuine, may have been the last message of Miss Mildred Doran, one of the Dole flyers from San Francisco to Honolulu who was lost in the attempt last year, was picked up today on Westport beach by Robert Oltz and Raymond Oehelerich, Aberdeen boys.

The message was dated October 2 1927, and was written on a small piece of a paper sack. The decipherable portion of the message follows: "Gas all gone. Water running low - - Been floating -4 days. Miss M —oran."

Member of Noted Financial House Reaches City

Mr. Anthony de Rothschild, of London, came over yesterday from the Mainland in the course of a tour of Canada with Mrs. Rothschild, and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. De Becker, of Belgium.

Mr. De Rothschild is making his third Canadian tour. He is in the Dominion purely on vacation and has visited the mountain resorts.

The London financier in an interview given in Montreal recently, showed more interest in discussing Canadian conditions than he did in discussing affairs in England. He did not discuss the unemployment situation or industrial conditions in England in a particularly optimistic vein but he seemed to think that some improvement had been show in a general way in the Old Land.

Depression is still noticeable in the iron, steel and coal industries, he said, and this depression is directly reflected in the operation of Britain's railways. This fact, coupled with the intense competition which the railways had to meet in the divergence of freight cargoes to the fleets of motor trucks operating throughout the country had created a serious condition in railroad operation.

He showed great interest in the progress being made by Canada's great transcontinental railway systems and agreed that the criticism and discontent in London over the Grand Trunk Railway settlement now had practically died down. London capitalists were as keen to invest their money in promising Canadian ventures as they were in projects requiring capital elsewhere.

One Return Lacking on Recent Provincial Vote

All Returns Are In Except That of Mackenzie Riding—Figures Show Many Close Results in Constituencies

Upwards of 360,000 votes were cast for candidates in the recent provincial election, it appears from the figures received by the Deputy Provincial Secretary from the constituencies.

This does not include the riding of Mackenzie, where the figures are not yet complete.

In view of the fact that there are about 249,000 names on the voters' lists, it should be remembered that the voters of Vancouver and Victoria have six and four choices respectively, so that the total is inflated to that extent. The average vote for the Liberal candidates in Vancouver was 11,767, and 16,397 for the Conservatives, while in Victoria the average vote for the Liberal candidates was 6,269, and for the Conservatives was 7,526, so that with that data in view, it is possible for the statistician to work out the political complexion averages for thirty-nine of the forty constituencies.

It is pointed out by officials of the Provincial Secretary's department that the accompanying figures, which are returned to the Government Buildings, may be slightly varied by September 4; when the formal close of the polling returns ends:

Sir Joseph Ward Passes Through City Homebound

Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Ward, Bart., prime minister of New Zealand from 1906 to 1912, and since that time a leading figure in Dominion politics, passed through Victoria last evening homebound. Sir Joseph has administered almost every department in New Zealand affairs during his long association with politics in that country.

DRAFT HORSES ARE FEATURE

Evening Show at Exhibition Is Magnet for Lovers of Equine Beauty—Many Entries

125 HORSES SEEN IN RING

Undoubtedly the outstanding feature of the Horse Show is the magnificent display of heavy draft horses. Nothing like it has ever been seen in Victoria before. In this section of the exhibition is the truly wonderful line-up of six-horse teams, six in number, in addition to which there is also an eight-horse team.

It would be extremely difficult at this stage to pick out any particular team as superior to any other, for they are all of the best. These teams present an array of equine beauty which perhaps cannot be surpassed anywhere in the world, with harness costing up to $5,000 a set and illuminated in various ways with small electric lights, both on the harness itself and on the horses manes. The wagons drawn by the teams are also profusely illuminated with electric lights from end to end, the whole giving an effect to be long remembered.

The drivers, too, show a remarkable skill in the handling of their teams at the walk, trot or canter, cutting figure eights, circling and performing numerous other evolutions.

One team of pole horses turns the scales at 4,400 pounds, just a mere two and a quarter tons in the two animals. The teams are composed of Clydesdales, Percherons and Shires.

The popular president of the Agricultural Association, Mr. W. H. Munsie, was noticed handling the ribbons on one of these teams, and acquitted himself very creditably, as he also did when driving one of the two-horse teams. In this regard there were six teams in the ring, the judge having a very difficult task in picking out the prize winners, the first eventually going to McCrosky's Clydesdales.

There were over 125 horses shown in the ring last night, all the classes being well filled.

The prize list follows:

Sec. 44. Brood mare with foal by side, Percherons—1, Frank Burge, Albany, Ore.; 2, Ruby Stock Farm, Portland, Ore.

Sec. 45. Yeld mare, 4 years and over—1, Frank Burge; 2, Ruby Stock Farm; 3, Frank Burge.

Sec. 46. Filly, 3 years and under 4—1, Frank Burge; 2, Ruby Stock Farm.

Sec. 47. Filly, 2 years and under 3—1, Ruby Stock Farm; 2, Frank Burge.

Sec. 48. Filly, 1 year and under 2—1, 2, Frank Burge.

Sec. 49. Foal—1, Ruby Stock Farm; 2, Frank Burge.

Sec. 51. Champion mare, Percherons—Frank Burge; reserve, Ruby Stock Farm.

Sec. 120. Pony stallion, 3 years and over—1, Harry Haigh, Victoria.

Sec. 122. Pony, brood mare or yeld mare—1, 2, 3, Harry Haigh, Victoria.

Sec. 129. Shetland pony, stallion, ridden by boy or girl—1, Harry Holness, Victoria; 2, L. Howard, Victoria; 3, Miss May Haigh, Victoria.

Sec. 65. Mare or gelding, 3 years and over, under 1,400 lbs., as used for city delivery, to be show in suitable single harness—1, James Turner, Victoria.

Sec. 66. Pair of mares or geldings, used in city delivery—1, James Turner, Victoria.

Sec. 112. Hunter class, mare or gelding, 4 years and over, exceeding 14.2 up and carrying 170 lbs.—1, Victoria Riding Academy; 2, Mrs. Jack Russell; 3, Victoria Riding Academy.

Sec. 109. Saddle horses, mare or gelding, under 15 hands—1, 2, Victoria Riding Academy; 3, M. Attwater, Vancouver.

The second session of the driving competition of the six heavy draft horse teams took place and points were awarded. Final in this competition will take place on Saturday night at 9 o'clock, when prizes will be awarded.

EDUCATION IN WEST REVIEWED

Deputy Ministers of Four Western Provinces Are in Conference in Victoria

The conference of deputy heads of the departments of education in the various Western Provinces is now in progress in the members' room in the Parliament Buildings. This is taking the form of a round-table conference, in which the various matters that effect the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba in an educational way are being discussed.

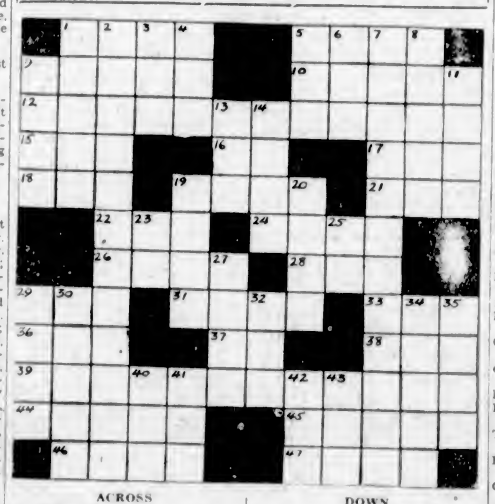

The conference will continue, it is anticipated, until about the end of the week. Dr. A. McColl, Deputy Minister, of Saskatchewan, has been delayed in reaching the city and will not be here until today. Others in attendance are Dr. S. J. Willis, of this province; Dr. R. Fletcher, of Manitoba, and Dr. J. H. Ross, of Alberta.

The subject of textbooks, rural schools, and kindred subjects, in which all are interested, have been before the gathering. On Tuesday Hon. Perren Baker, Minister of Education for Alberta, who is in the city, attended the conference, and gave a short address before the deputy heads. Today it is expected that Hon. J. Hinchliffe, newly appointed Minister of Education for British Columbia, will speak to them briefly and extend a welcome to the visitors.

Sir Ofori Atta, chief of Akim Abuaka Province of West Africa, with his suite recently visited the United Free Church offices in Edinburgh, Scotland, where he was presented with a Bible, he having received his early education through missionaries of the church.

When two large saloon automobiles were overturned in the Mall, London, recently, and wrecked a road refuge, not a pane of glass in either car was smashed.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

ARTS EXHIBIT IS POPULAR

STANDARD IS BETTER BOTH IN TECHNIQUE AND DESIGN

Many See Fine Display of Crafts Adapted to Nature and Material Treated

Crowds continue to throng the arts and crafts exhibit at the Agricultural Fair. The craft exhibit this year is not so varied as one would expect in view of the fine display in other sections of the art exhibit. Those crafts shown, however, display a fine appreciation of the nature and material of the various objects decorated. Pottery is a predominating exhibit each year with the number of entries and the number of workers represented, is larger. The standard is also better, both in design and technique. Designs are conforming more and more to the nature of the material. Indian motifs continue to be popular, and there seems a big field for specialization in this as a characteristic Victoria industry.

One of the interesting exhibits in the art department is a beautiful model of a full-rigged sailing ship by E. J. C. Smith, 80 Dallas Road, which is for sale. The proceeds will go towards the funds of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children.

Winnipeg Branch Joins Association Of Civil Servants

The Victoria Local Council of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada has just received news that the Trade and Commerce branch in Winnipeg has joined forces with the Amalgamated Civil Servants and appointed George Wagg, of that city, as its secretary.

The association has learned with regret of the mysterious death of one of its isolated members, Mr. E. H. Maynard, lighthouse keeper of Addenbrook Lighthouse, who was found shot near the lighthouse. From the scanty news up to the present available, it would appear that he was the victim of foul play and the association is taking the case up with the authorities, who are now working on it.

The next local council meeting has been postponed from September 3, owing to it being Labor Day, till the following Monday, September 10, when the meeting will be in the Provincial Civil Servants' Club rooms, Menzies Street, at 8 p.m.

Glasgow, Scotland, is to exempt from all taxation infirmaries, hospitals and halls used exclusively for religious services.

Accordingly, may I present a linen and crepe ensemble just about as stunning as any you have ever seen? First of all, we have the short jacket of white linen, attractively embroidered. # "LADY BETTY"

By JOHN L. CARTER

Author of "The Cinema Girl," "Peggie the Aeronaut," Etc.

Let us get on with our work. And I hope you will find that you can stay after all."

Elsa rose with a resigned sigh.

"Work is always good," she smiled bravely. "I will stay for some time. And I will not look sad any more."

And now Jimmy took himself in hand, if only for her sake, and they put in an hour's hard work.

Then Michelais came in.

"You can go out for an hour," Jimmy said to Elsa. And, with a cheery smile, she ran away.

"What's the news?" said Jimmy anxiously.

Michelais purposely took up his stand at the window so that Jimmy could not see his face.

"Haven't you heard about Lady Betty?" he said diffidently.

"What about her?" cried Jimmy sharply. "Come man! I'm in no mood for riddles."

"She's engaged to Crackling, then," said Michelais bluntly. "Been engaged nearly a week now. It hasn't been announced yet."

"No! I must see her at once," said Jimmy thickly.

"Don't be a fool, Jimmy," Michelais advised him. "What on earth have you got to do with it? Your wife will live twice as long as you!"

"You thick-headed Gaul, will you shut up?" cried Jimmy. "I tell you I must see her. Do you think she loves that elephant of an American? You great idiot! I tell you that she shall not marry him. Get me a taxi this instant."

Michelais did not obey. Instead he settled himself on the cushions of the window-seat and began to smoke.

"I'm sorry to be obstinate, Jimmy, and I know you could wipe the floor with me if you wished, but I am going to have a say in this matter. You see it was through me that you got into this hole. Can I go on?"

"Do what the dickens you like!" said Jimmy rudely.

"Well then, you certainly had no right to go and marry Madame Bovier when you ought to have married Lady Bety. That was very wrong of you."

"Do you think I don't know that, you wind-bag!" retorted Jimmy, "tell me something fresh."

"Very well, I will. Lady Betty likes Crackling. He is not cursed with the artistic temperament, and you can bet your boots he is the very man to make her happy—barring yourself of course. But you are barred, my dear fellow! You really must forget that!"

"Oh, but it is ridiculous! Betty never could be happy with him. She's the sort that only loves once."

"Well, let this be the once," said Michelais. "She will soon forget you, so you needn't worry on that score."

Jimmy looked very wickedly at Michelais. And as for Crackling, he felt that he would certainly put the fellow out of existence rather than permit him to marry Lady Betty.

"You don't know everything, young froggy," said Jimmy. "I didn't mean to take you into my confidence, but I may as well tell you—Lady Betty has got engaged to Crackling merely out of pique. Does that convey anything to your thick young head?"

Michelais threw down his cigarette-end, and settled himself more comfortably among the cushions.

"It's a pity you cannot make it up with your wife," he said maliciously, "and let her live with you here. You might leave other girls alone then, and let them marry whom they wished."

"Shut up!" growled Jimmy. "But, talking of Madame Bovier, I had a letter from her only last week begging me to return; and she did actually offer to come and live here with me. She said that I had not replied to her last two letters, which is quite true, and warned me that she was not going to stand it any more. Of course I shall go on ignoring her forever. So far as all laws of morality go I consider our marriage one in name only."

"And do you think that she will stand that for long?" cried Michelais. I don't. Depend upon it she'll take her revenge as soon as she finds out that she can make no impression on you."

Jimmy shrugged his shoulders wearily.

"I don't think I mind much what she does. Life is not such a picnic after all; and honestly, old fellow, this misunderstanding with Betty is getting more than I can bear."

"What about Mademoiselle Le Page?" queried Michelais.

Jimmy turned on him with a scowl.

"What about her? You are like the rest of the silly old maids who pronounce judgment on their betters. We are good pals, hard workers, and that is all. Surely there is no reason why I should declare war on every other woman just because I love Lady Betty? No. Elsa is one of my dearest friends, but that is all."

"Still, there's no reason why you should try to step Lady Betty's engagement. I'm afraid you'll get your knuckles rapped for your pains. You chose your own wife, and Lady Betty will resent your claim to prevent her choosing for herself."

"Anyhow I'm just going to see Lady Betty. Whatever happens, this engagement must be stopped."

That threw Michelais into quite a stew.

"My poor, mad Jimmy! Why, you have said so often that she must forget you and marry someone else! Pull yourself together man! You are going to make the mistake of a lifetime."

"I have made that already in marrying," said Jimmy grimly. "Thanks to trying to help you!" he added, and he slammed out and flung himself into the first taxi.

The news that he had called came to Lady Betty as she sat in her little drawing-room actually awaiting Mr. Crackling, who was to take tea with her. For one moment she felt as though she would faint right away. Then a curious desire to cry swept over her. Suddenly all her anger and resentment against Jimmy had melted away. He had called, had sought her out! Did he love her still? Did he, after all, prefer her to his model? These thoughts swept her along until she was feverish with a great desire to know why he came. He must have heard of her engagement. Why had he come? Far better to keep away—unless—

"Show Mr. Weston in here," she said at last.

A minute later Miss Graeby entered.

"What is this, my dear?" she cried. "I have met Pilker and he says you have ordered him to show Mr. Weston up. I was so very certain it was a mistake I stopped him. It would never do. I was sure he must be mistaken."

Lady Betty glared at Miss Graeby.

"I will fetch him up myself," she cried. "And kindly do me the favor of leaving us quite alone."

"But Mr. Crackling? What shall I do with him? He will be here any moment."

"Please entertain him for me. And you need not talk me over with him. Talk about something else for a change."

Then she hurried down to the hall, where Jimmy had insisted on staying until she should send for him.

"Hello Betty!" he said awkwardly.

"Well, Jimmy!" she responded. "Come up to the drawing-room. There will be no one but us two."

She was amazed at her own self, for she had declared many times recently that she hated him. Yet she did not hate him. It had been nothing but the cramping hand of jealousy that gripped her. She knew now that she would never hate Jimmy.

"It has been a fine day," she said, anxious to seem at ease.

"Has it?" he said absently. "Oh yes, of course!"

They were at the drawing-room door by now. He opened it and followed her in. Then he closed the door and crossed to the hearth, and she followed.

"Now, Betty, what is this about you being engaged?" he demanded.

College Alumni Meet Next Week

The second annual meeting of Victoria College Alumni Association will take place at Victoria College next Tuesday, August 28, at 8 p.m. Election of officers and formulation of an outline programme for the ensuing year will be the business.

The chief purpose of the alumni is to constitute a mutual benefit organization and at the same time help Victoria College, the old Alma Mater. Students have been apprised through the press during the past year that the biggest effort of the alumni at the present time is the formation of a fund for the purpose of presenting a bust of Dr. E. B. Paul, M.A., the former principal, to the college as a lasting tribute to his work there and in the province. The bust may been seen this week at the art section of the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows, the work of a former pupil of Dr. Paul's, Mr. Earl W. Clarke.

All former Victoria College students are urged to attend the meeting and give the impetus needed to the alumni and its objective.

Lecture Series

The Victoria Medical Society will attend a series of lectures at the Empress Hotel on September 7 and 8, when Dr. A. T. Bazin, professor of surgery at McGill University, Montreal, and surgeon at the Montreal General Hospital; Dr. A. H. Gordon, professor of medicine at McGill and of the Montreal General Hospital, and Dr. Gordon Bates, of Toronto University, director of the Government dispensaries of the Province of Ontario, will visit Victoria in continuation of the programme of extra-mural post-graduate education carried on during several years by the Canadian Medical Association.

This programme, which is much appreciated by the profession as evidenced by the large attendance at the lectures, is made possible through the generosity of the Sun Life Insurance Company in its effort to advance general medical education throughout the Dominion by sending leaders in the profession from the large teaching centres of Canada conveying instruction by lecture and demonstration in recent advances in all branches of medical science.

This is an effort on the part of the Canadian Medical Association and the Sun Life Insurance Company, through education, to prolong the expectancy of life and reduce the immediate mortality by preventive medicine.

Doctors Bazin, Gordon and Bates are accepted authorities in their respective fields.

During their stay in Victoria they will be the guests of the Victoria Medical Society at a dinner at the Empress Hotel on September 7, and at luncheon on September 8, and again at an evening meeting, at all of which they will address the members of the Victoria profession.

Dr. Gordon Bates, who is also the general secretary of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council, has consented to address public meetings at the Memorial Hall, under the auspices of the Victoria Medical Society, on the evenings of September 7 and 8. At these meetings Dr. Bates will deal with various phases of "Preventive Medicine," a subject upon which he is eminently qualified to speak.

Five Electrocuted

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 22.—Five persons were electrocuted here last night when they stumbled across a bare 2,300-volt high-power line, blown to the ground during a terrific wind storm shortly before midnight.

Three of the victims, Richard Miller, his wife and son, were instantly killed. Two others, Miller's son, Wesley, and a neighbor, Carl Meeks, died attempting to rescue the three.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Geo. Haas, first Athletic batsman, in the seventeenth inning finished the longest game of the season here this afternoon by driving an offering from Miljus over the right field fence, and into an adjoining street for a home run. ## CANADIANS WIN SCOTTISH MEET

Dominion's Athletes Capture Six of Ten Events From Scotland—Two Relay Teams in Front

HAMPDEN PARK, Glasgow, Aug. 22.—The Canadian Olympic athletes concluded their British engagement tonight when they defeated Scotland in an international track and field meet. The Canadians won six events, the Scots three, and one was tied.

The 440 and 880-yard races were won by the team composed of Percy Williams, Vancouver; J. Fitzpatrick, Hamilton; Harry Warren, Vancouver, Oxford Rhodes scholar, and Ralph Adams, of Hamilton.

The Canadians won the 440-yard relay in 42 4-5 seconds, and the 880-yard relay in 1:28 1-5. The mile relay team of S. B. Glover, Edmonton; B. Little, of Winnipeg; W. A. Wilson, Montreal, and Jimmy Ball, Winnipeg, won easily in 3 minutes 28 3-5 seconds. Ball, who took the baton from Wilson, trotted home in the final lap. Little won the scratch half mile race for Canada, and Ball later won the scratch individual quarter from McAllister, in 50 1-5 seconds.

W. J. Montabone, of Montreal, crashed five hurdles in the 120-yard race, which was won by Allister Clark, of Scotland, in 16 seconds.

First three places in the mile scratch race were won by A. Doherty, Montreal; J. Walters, Hamilton, and D. Griffin, of Hamilton, after a terrific finish.

A. W. Munro, of Toronto, although limping, divided the high jump with Clarkson, of Scotland.

Scotland won the four-mile race, in which Art Keay, of Toronto, was the Canadian competitor.

The pole vault went to Scotland without competition.

WANER CLOSE ON HORNSBY'S HEELS

Pittsburgh Slugger Now Within Four Points of "Big Six" and National League Leader

With Rogers Hornsby still incapacitated, Paul Waner collected a triple, a double and a single yesterday to gain three points in the "Big Six" to .372, thereby reducing the margin of the Boston manager, in the "Big Six" and the National League, to four slender percentage points. The outburst of the Pittsburgh star represented all the hitting done by "Big Six" members yesterday, with the exception of Frisch's double and Heilmann's single. Babe Ruth was forced into idleness by rain, and Cobb remained out of the game.

The standing to date:

GASOLINE BATH CHANGES SPOTS ON GREYHOUND

BELFAST, Aug. 22.—The greyhound, unlike the leopard, can change its spots. At Dunmore Park race track today, a racing greyhound was washed in gasoline after winning a race by ten lengths. It came out of the bath minus a white tip on its tail and white pads on its feet and therefore was revealed as a dog which raced under another name last night.

Bookmakers had refused to accept any more bets and the officials decided on the bathing idea. A further inquiry will be held.

Champion May Row Here

BOB Pearce, Olympic single sculling champion, who has been extended an invitation by the directors of the J.B.A.A., to give an exhibition of sculling in Victoria during his visit to British Columbia. Pearce is returning to Australia, and will be on the Coast several days before his return to "down under." If satisfactory arrangements are completed, this will be Victoria's first view of an Olympic champion in action. He is slated to arrive next month.

Tom Heeney Taking Scar of Battle, and Bride Back to N.Z.

"Hard Rock From Down Under" Makes Short Stay in Capital City—Thinks Jack Dempsey Will Return and Tunney Stay Retired

TOM HEENEY

With a small scar over his left eye, the only mark of his battle with Gene Tunney for the world's heavyweight championship at Madison Square Garden on July 6, Tom Heeney, New Zealand, arrived in the Capital City yesterday on the R.M.Ms. Aorangi, en route "down under" for a three months' vacation and a visit to his sick father. Accompanying Heeney was his wife, formerly Miss Marion Dunn, of New York, and his three brothers, Jack, Arthur and Pat.

As the boat docked Heeney was at the rail dressed in a blue serge suit and smoking a cigar. With him was his wife and his eldest brother, Jack. Exclamations of "There he is" and "That's Heeney" greeted the New Zealander as the waiting crowds got a glimpse of him.

Heeney will stay in New Zealand for about three months and then return to the United States. By that time he expects that the first round of the elimination series for the heavyweight crown will be under way and his next battle will be arranged. "I have no contracts signed for future bouts," said Heeney, in the course of an interview with a Colonist representative. "This matter is left in the hands of Charlie Harvey, my manager."

When questioned as to what he thought of the claims laid to the title recently relinquished by Gene Tunney, Heeney though the matter a big joke. "The next thing you will see will be that Izzy Schwartz, flyweight champion, has laid a claim to the heavyweight title," he said. "The only way to get a real champion is by an elimination series and by this method only can the next world's champion be crowned," stated Heeney.

TUNNEY OUT FOR GOOD

The New Zealander was certain Tunney would stay retired.

When asked if he thought Jack Dempsey would return to the fight game, Heeney was of the opinion that the Manassa Mauler might again don the mitts.

In discussing his recent battle with Tunney, Heeney stated "I was in better condition in the eleventh round when the fight was stopped than he was in the tenth. There was only eight seconds to go in the fatal eleventh round when the referee, after hearing calls from the fans to stop the fight, stepped in and halted the battle," continued the New Zealand battler. I think that if I had been given a chance I could have lasted the distance. It was in this round that the eyelashes from my left eye caught under the eyelid and, of course, made the eye sore and caused my right eye to water making it difficult for me to see my opponent."

He spoke of Tunney's speed, and said that he had a very useful and point-scoring left. Tunney seems to centre his attack to the face with the hope of closing his opponent's eyes and then having a much easier battle to fight. Heeney, however, spoke highly of Tunney's cleverness.

RISKO TOUGH FIGHTER

"I found Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, a much harder opponent than either Jack Sharkey or Paolino," stated Heeney.

Tom's brother Jack, who by the way is the oldest of the three, was middleweight champion of New Zealand for six years, and during Heeney's training for the big battle with Tunney, Jack acted as one of the many sparring partners. "My other brothers have never taken to the fighting game," said Tom, "while Jack, who is now thirty-six, has retired."

Mr. and Mrs. Heeney came ashore for a short time and were taken for a trip around Marine Drive. They were delighted with the ride and were quite interested in Victoria.

Golf is the hobby of the New Zealand fighter when he is not in training for prize fights. "I am only learning the game and my greatest difficulty is watching the ball after I drive off from the tee. I can hit them all right, but I never know where they are going," concluded Heeney.

In addition to being a prize fighter Tom was also a member of the New Zealand forces in the Great War, from which he emerged without any scars.

SYDNEY DEFEAT TILLICUMS CREW

Williams Pitches Millmen to Win Over Visitors in Red's Service Cup Series

Sidney balltossers defeated the Tillicums in a Red's Service Cup game last evening, on their grounds, by a 6-3 score.

Art Balcom, who twirled his first game this season for the clubmen, went along nicely until the sixth frame, when the Millmen pounced on his offerings and checked in three runs to win the contest. He allowed eight hits and struck out three.

Sylvester Williams, pitching for Sidney, held the visitors in check, and not once was he in danger. He sent six back to the dugout via the strike-out route, and allowed but four hits of a scratch variety.

The visitors scored one in the second, another in the third frame, and tallied their final run in the seventh inning. Sidney obtained one in the second frame, two in the next stanza and added three more in the sixth inning.

Skinner umpired, and the teams were as follows:

Sidney — Lines c, Williams p, Brown 1b, Sam 2b, Simpson ss, Steele 3b, Darbyshire cf, Gilman lf and Jackson rf.

Tillicums—Hilton c, Balcom p, Steele 1b, Love 2b, Saville ss, Dunnett 3b, Doherty lf, Barr cf and Barnswell rf.

Remaining games in the series follow:

Friday, August 24—Westholme Hotel vs. Sidney, at Royal Athletic Park.

Wednesday, August 29—Sidney vs. Westholme Hotel, at Sidney.

Friday, August 31—Tillicums vs. Westholme Hotel, at the Royal Athletic Park.

The home team is the first mentioned.

TILDEN WILL NOT ATTEND HEARING

Business Forces American Net Star to Stay Away From Trial About Amateur Status

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—William P. Tilden will not be present at his trial on charges of violating the amateur player-writer rules of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, as scheduled to be held here Friday evening. He notified President Samuel H. Colleman of this in a letter given to the press tonight.

"Business forcing me to be out of the city at the time of the meeting of the executive committee" was given by Tilden as his reason for not appearing.

What this business was he did not specify. He then went on to write his side of the case with the request that it be presented to the meeting. The court's first ranking player, who was dropped from the Davis Cup team in France and later restored after the player-writer charges had been brought against him because of his articles describing play in the English championships at Wimbledon, denied any intention "to evade the spirit or letter of the rule."

FERRONA SETH'S FINE WIN ONE OF FEATURES OF DAY

Mrs. Brady's Entry Comes From Behind, After Going to Knees as Barrier Is Sprung, to Win Handicap Before Great Holiday Throng—Betting Figures Increase Greatly

Vic Munoz Captures Second Out to Return Most Startling Odds of Day

A record-breaking crowd, betting that reached close to five figures in every race, long prices with an occasional gasper thrown in, some great finishes, and one of the smartest times ever registered for five furlongs, were the features of yesterday's race card at the Willows half-mile race track. It was real racing weather, and the gay holiday crowd had a first class card, under ideal conditions, presented for their approval.

Seldom, if ever, has the Willows track and enclosure presented such an army of spectators. The paddock, betting enclosure, grandstand and promenade were thronged with punters trying to pick the winners, while the bleachers on the first turn were a mass of humanity.

Favorites again found the going hard, and only two were able to get the official call. This helped the prices, but as the betting was wide in practically every event, there were no sensational figures hoisted.

FEATURE OF CARD

The race of Ferrona Seth in the fifth and feature of the card, the British Columbia Agricultural Association Handicap, overshadowed the others. This game mare from Mrs. Brady's stable went to her knees when the barrier was sprung, but recovered quickly after being lengths behind the next horse, to win with plenty of reserve. Jockey Trivett rode a creditable race, and fully lived up to his reputation as a race rider. Simony, the favorite, carrying the heaviest impost, was a good second, and might have won had not Peake, on Frank S, cut him off on the last turn. Babe Ruth, who carried a good part of the wagers, was third, while Lux was next to the wire. The winner was a fifth of a second slower than the track record.

W. H. Munsie's aged gelding Vic Munoz took his second straight out, and returned the longest odds of the day in the second. The locally-owned horse, ably ridden by Jockey Duncan, a home brew, was well rated behind in the early running, and came on with a burst of speed on the stretch to get the call in a hair-raising finish from Sparrow. Black Sand was third. Volley, a red-hot favorite, had no excuses and led for five furlongs.

LITTLE SMOKE WINS

The opening race went to Little Smoke in easy fashion. The winner took charge on the first turn, and from there on had things all her own way. He won by five lengths. Stanford was second, two lengths ahead of Sunny Girl. Ucan, after being pinched off at the start, showed speed and finished fourth.

Norton gave the punters a thrill in the third when he did the unexpected and had $23.60 placed against his number on the mutuel board. The winner hugged the rail and won in the clear. Rochester's Miss closed fast and returned his place supporters with $24.40; Cas Walser was gaining fast. The field entry, Little Cop and Eugene Belle were at the bottom of the field.

Jockey De Ford, with his years of experience behind him, outwitted Trivett on board Little Hills, the favorite, when he brought Friar Tuck home in the front in the fourth. De Ford took his mount over the shortest route and Friar Tuck received the verdict in a short nose finish. The credit of the win goes to De Ford, who showed masterly skill. Olive Bunn was third by two lengths over Shadow Spark.

WINS OVER FAVORITE

After an exchange in weights from their previous outs, the winner to the worse and the second horse to the better, Shasta Graney came home a winner in the sixth over the length. Judith was out in front for a quarter, when Graney took charge. Sunkist was a good third. Willow Bramble was widely touted, but never looked like a contender.

Nippon took the big jack pot in the seventh over the mile and seventy route. The Oriental-named thoroughbred, capably ridden by Pollard, went into the lead shortly after the starter sprang the tape, and held on easily. Ojo was hard ridden but was no better than second, while Oloroso headed out Athelrain for show money.

Honors were widely distributed among the riders, seven sharing in the winning mounts.

TUNNEY PEEVED OVER ATTENTIONS OF NEWSPAPERMEN

EXETER, England, Aug. 22.—Gene Tunney had a taste of his longed-for "privacy" shortly after arriving in England. Ten miles outside of Plymouth, en route to Exeter, his automobile was pursued by photographers and reporters packed into several other machines.

The former champion expressed displeasure over his inability to outdistance the newspapermen. When he reached Exeter he stopped for a long time in the hope they would miss him. This hope proved futile, however, and having luncheon he proceeded to London, which he expected to reach about 8 p.m.

COFFROTH HANDICAP CONDITIONS MADE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Tijuana Jockey Club, Aug. 22.—Coincident with the announcement by President James Wood Coffroth of the increase in the amount of the added money to the Cofforth Handicap of 1929, of $15,000, making a total of $100,000 added, with a gross value of approximately $150,000, came the official statement that Gene Normile has succeeded Jack Atkin as manager of the ring activities at the Tijuana race course. # VANCOUVER HAS FOOTBALL WAR

Six Teams Withdraw From City and District League and Will Form New Loop

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—Another soccer war is on in Vancouver. It started on Tuesday night at the reorganization meeting of the Vancouver and District League, when six of the clubs asked for the withdrawal of their applications for membership and the return of their fees because they could not get their own way and run a six-team division.

President Lloyd Craig immediately asked the delegates present for their decision in the matter and on a vote being taken it was decided that the six clubs have their money and applications returned, after an amendment by Delegate Cotter, of the C.N.R., to the effect that the council be given the right to decide on the question of returning the fees, had been defeated.

The six clubs concerned, St. Saviour's, Shellys, St. Andrew's Sapperton, North Shore United and Westminster Royals, held a special meeting and decided to form a new league called the Tri-City Football League. W. H. Mehaffey was elected president pro tem and George Crookston secretary pro tem.

The six clubs claim that they are determined to provide the Vancouver soccer public with the best possible brand of football it is within their power to give.

TITLEHOLDER DEFEATED IN FIRST ROUND

Bon Stein Put Out of Play in First Round by Novotny—Don Moe Also Goes Under

FOUR BRITISHERS ARE ELIMINATED

BOB O LINK CLUB, Chicago, Aug. 22.—Four members of the British Walker team were eliminated from the Western amateur golf championship along with the medalist of the meet and the defending champion, victims of six young "Jack the Giant Killers of Golfdom," today.

The first round of the match play saw all these experts pass to the gallery at the hands of young golfers, most of them university stars from Illinois, Notre Dame and Chicago.

It was Gus Novony, formerly captain of the University of Illinois golf team, who dethroned Bon Stein, Seattle, in his attempt to keep the crown. It was Kenneth Hisert, twice big ten champion of the University of Chicago, who lowered the colors of John Dawson, medalist, with the score of 72-69-141.

Then Lawrence Moller, of Quincy, Illinois, a junior at Notre Dame, climbed the magic bean stalk of par and slashed off the golden head of Dr. W. Twiddell, 1927 British champion. And right after him, Rial Rolfe, once Western Conference champion for Illinois, slaughtered the hopes of Ustace Storey.

TORRENCE ELIMINATED

It remained for Charles Fish, of Joliet, and Illinois student, to eliminate T. A. Torrence, another Briton, and to Ira Couch, of Chicago, a former Williams' student, fell the task of felling the present British champion, T. P. Perkins, 2 and 1.

Only three favorites came through the cataclysm of the two eighteen-hole rounds of today. "Chick" Evans, formerly amateur and open titleholder, seeking his nineth Western championship, played par golf to defeat Dock Bockenkamp, of St. Louis, in the first round and Russell Martin, runner up three years ago, in the second, 6 and 5. Dr. O. F. Willing, of Portland, Pacific Northwest amateur and open champion, played the best golf of the day, being four under par for thirty-four holes, to win from Douglas Casey, of Chicago, 5 and 4, and from A. P. Wade, local player, 5 and 3. The third was Frank Dolp, of Portland, Western titleholder in 1927. He handily won from Chester Williams, of Bob O Link, 4 and 3, and then by shooting a 33 on the first nine in the second round, put out Fish.

Thus the field was reduced to eight players, with Novony facing Willing, Miller pitted against Rolfe, Hisert against Evans, and Dolp meeting Couch.

Cummings today went out in the second round, 3 and 2, at the hands of Couch, while another sharp shooter, Don Moe, eighteen-year-old Portland player, who led in the first qualifying round with 69, yielded to "Chuck" Weems, golfing mayor of Quincy, Illinois, before the latter succumbed to Rolfe in the second round.

BON STEIN

Of Seattle, defending U.S. Western champion who went down to defeat in the first round of match play before Novotny, of the University of Illinois. Stein entered the title play without having to qualify.

FOLEY DECISIONS EASTERN FIGHTER

Vancouver Boy Gets Call in Twelve-Round Go With McNaughton, of Quebec City

QUEBEC, Aug. 22.—Vic. Foley, of Vancouver, contender for the Canadian featherweight title, was awarded a twelve-round decision over Ralph McNaughton, of Quebec, here tonight.

Foley fought under wraps in the early rounds and allowed the local fighter to carry the battle. McNaughton had a slight edge in the first five rounds.

The only telling blow of the battle occurred in the fourth round, when the local fighter landed a stinging left on Foley's nose, the blood embarrassing Foley until the end of the fifth round. From then on the Vancouver flash boxed the Quebecer and scored repeatedly with lefts and rights to the body. In the last few rounds, Foley was all over McNaughton.

Foley weighed 130 and McNaughton tipped the beam at 125 3-4.

Propellers of Planes Made of Fabric and Glue

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 2[illegible]—Back of the crowds cheering the flying heroes are the mechanics and technicians who have made their exploits possible. Seldom does laudation come to them, but the thrill of achievement is as keen.

Frank W. Caldwell belongs to that group. He is in charge of propeller development for the United States Army Air Corps, and has had a part in all of the army's aerial accomplishments. Caldwell designed the miscarta propeller, used extensively on tri-motor Fokker planes, including the Hegenberger - Maitland flight to Hawaii, and the Southern Cross journey to Australia.

Miscarta is a composition of fabric and glue. It is particularly desirable for tri-motored planes because the air stream of the central motor overlaps the side motors, causing a vibration. Wood and metal cannot withstand this strain.

Others see the evolution of the aeroplane in its flights, its engines, its comforts. Caldwell traces the development in the pitch of the propeller and its composition.

"Today research is toward a magnesium propeller, only two-thirds as heavy as aluminum," he said. "We also are experimenting with a propeller the pitch of which can be changed in flight."

As set now, the pitch of propellers is correct for maximum speed, but in landing and taking off, when the speed is cut, the propeller angle is too high, Caldwell explains.

In 1909, when Glenn Curtis, the Wrights and other pioneer plane designers scarcely could get their planes off the ground, Caldwell completed his work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and wrote a thesis on aeroplane propellers. Since then he has devoted his energies to that one phase of aviation.

SHEIKS SPURN PLANES, AUTOS

Airplanes and automobiles failed to impress a party of real sheiks when they recently visited a small town in the Sudan, but a staircase aroused their veneration. They were familiar with trees growing in groups, but they could explain the shade-givers being in rows only through the trees being able to walk. Water faucets amazed them, for to turn a screw and see water rushing out of a wall seemed magic to them. They bought a number of the "rods of Moses" from a junk dealer to hang on their walls at home to spurt water for them. When their error was explained the dealer took back the faucets, but later each sheik stealthily repurchased them so that he "would not be cheated out of the white man's magic."

Droughts in parts of Brazil are causing heavy losses to cattle and crops.

World's Biggest Pineapple to Be Seen in Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 19. — The world's largest pineapple has been located here.

It is sixty-four feet high, twenty-four feet in diameter and weighs thirty-six tons. It holds 100,000 gallons of liquid.

The pineapple is made of steel and has just been constructed as a water tank for the canning plant of James Dole's Hawaiian Pineapple Company. The giant fruit is erected on a steel frame that towers eighty feet above the factory and is visible from all parts of Honolulu and to passengers on ships arriving in the harbor.

An application for a patent on the structure, which is painted to give detailed resemblance to the fruit, has been forwarded to Washington by the pineapple company.

Pineapples have become a symbol of these islands and also of Hawaiian hospitality, as they are the principal gift of the "hookupu," native ceremony of welcome. For these reasons the world's largest pineapple will stand as a welcoming tower for incoming steamers.

The pineapple crest has been reconstructed on the tower in the form of a six-ton steel topping.

The huge pineapple is used solely as the principal source of supply for the plant's automatic sprinkler system. The bottom of the fruit is 135 feet above ground. Its weight, full of water, is 470 tons.

Lands Big Salmon

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

HEALTH DIVIDENDS

If you were condemned to die tomorrow, how much would you give for one more year of health and happiness? You would no doubt give every dollar and every piece of property if, when sick, you could once again regain your health and all of its possibilities of happiness and enjoyment.

Have you, who are so concerned about your investments in real estate and bonds, ever considered what a valuable piece of property you posses in that body of yours, and have you cultivated and improved it to the greatest extent that is possible?

If you had money in the bank and it was only bringing 2½%, and it was possible for you to obtain 6%, you would consider yourself foolish if you did not make a change. Therefore, why be satisfied with obtaining insufficient dividends from your wonderful body, the most complicated mechanism that has ever been created! Our capabilities for accomplishing, and for enjoying ourselves during our lives, depend not only upon the wonderful vision and imagination of the mind, but upon the health of our physical bodies.

The poorest servant who is healthy is much richer than the feeble millionaire with dyspepsia, who cannot enjoy his wealth without health. No wealth we can obtain, or honor we may receive, can make us happy unless we have the health with which to enjoy them, and the value of all we possess diminishes in value to us directly in proportion as we become sick.

The efficiency we develop and our ability to commune with our fellows depends upon the way we can express ourselves through our physical bodies. All of our ability to learn from the world and all of our power to give in return, depends upon our physical mechanism. We speak with our mouths, we see with our eyes, we hear with our ears, and we move with our muscles. It is only through these definite physical mediums that we are able to make our contact with the world and its people.

Would you take a million dollars for the loss of your eyesight? Probably not. And yet, it is true that every day most of us do things which hurt our eyes. Through bad habits and practices we impair our sight, and in this way limit and cut down our enjoyment of the beautiful things of life which we might see and understand.

When our ears become stuffed from catarrhal diseases, from eating acid forming foods, we cannot hear and enjoy the delicate tones of music, or learn the things which would come to us through the use of our ears.

Health is the capital which bears the greatest interest. It furnishes an income which, when economically used, will support you in comfort. He who is a foolish spendthrift of his health throws away his principal and will soon find himself bankrupt. The more he draws upon his capital, the sooner it will be exhausted, and all over-eating, overworking, loss of sleep, improper habits and all the things which injure health will cause one to rapidly expend his fund of health, his reserve of life, and the bankruptcy of death will summon him to a reckoning.

THE NURMI-RITOLA FEUD — — — By Ripley

AMSTERDAM.—Again those bitter rivals, Nurmi and Ritola, have dramaticaly clashed on the Olympic field of honor. This time with honors even. Nurmi won the 1,500-metre event. Each contest was a duel to the death.

How they do hate each other! Their hatred is only excelled by their ability to run. And how they can "hardloop," as the Dutch say. Nurmi is the greatest runner that ever lived, and Ritola is only a step behind—and sometimes a step ahead of him.

The two battles that they had here surpassed their battles in the last Olympic in Paris four years ago. It was a thrilling sight to watch their struggles. Both outclassed all the other entrants. Running neck and neck ,they lapped the entire field in the 10,000-metre race. Imagine a runner of the calibre of Joie Ray being lapped in a few miles! Wide, of Sweden, is the only runner in the Games that has a right to be on the same track with them. Unless it is some one of the other Finns. All Finns seem to be marvelous runners.)

As I said before, Nurmi and Ritola do not speak. Nurmi, a strange taciturn fellow, never speaks to anyone anyway if he can help it. When Nurmi won the 10,000-metres race in the last few strides, he coldly turned his back on his team mate and refused to shake hands or permit his photo to be taken. He strode off the field without looking up or in any way acknowledging the applause of the Stadium.

Ritola had his revenge in the next race, as he finished in front with his back turned on his rival.

Nurmi defeated Ritola in both of their events in the 1924 Olympics. (They outclassed the world on that occasion, too.) But Nurmi has been slipping a little the last year or so while Ritola has been coming on to such an extent that their recent battles in Finland have usually resulted in his favor.

However, there is another Finn by the name of Larva who is claimed by the Finns to be better than any of them. He runs in the Nurmi style.

"More like Nurmi than Nurmi himself," said one of them to me as we drove in to the Damrak.

Yes, indeed, the Finns certainly can "hardloop," as the Dutch say.

World-Famous Stories

THE MAYPOLE

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE

(Nathaniel Hawthorne, 1804-1864, was an American writer of romance and short stories. His best known works include "The Scarlet Letter," "The Great Stone Face" and "The House of Seven Gables.")

The Maypole at Merry Mount was a symbol of merrymaking and jollity; around it a colony of early settlers had grown up, who spent most of their time in sport and fun, bringing over all the English festivals and celebrations to American soil. The Puritan colony nearby frowned upon such festivities and frivolousness, and the Puritans fought for a long time to suppress what they regarded as a settlement of wickedness almost in their midst.

What was the throng that stood hand-in-hand about the Maypole now? On the shoulders of a comely youth uprose the head and branching antlers of a stag; a second, human in all other points, had the grim visage of a wolf; a third, still with the trunk and limbs of a mortal man, showed the beard and horns of a venerable he-goat. Others were strangely garbed also, and all were merry, for they were celebrating a wedding.

Within the ring of seeming monsters appeared the two airiest forms that had ever trodden on any more solid footing than a purple and golden cloud. One was a youth in glistening apparel; his left hand grasped the fingers of a fair maiden, not less gaily decorated than himself. Bright roses glowed in contrast with the dark and glossy curls of each, and were scattered round their feet. These were the bride and groom.

Behind this light-hearted couple, so close to the Maypole that its boughs shaded his jovial face, stood the figure of an English priest, canonically dressed, yet decked with flowers in heathen fashion and wearing a chaplet of native vine leaves.

"Votaries of the Maypole," cried the priest, "merrily, all day long, have the woods echoed to your mirth. But be this your merriest hour, my hearties! Lo, here stand the Lord and Lady of the May, whom I am presently to join in holy matrimony. All ye that love the Maypole, lend your voices to the nuptial song of the Lord and Lady of the May!"

But the May Lord, he of the glistening apparel, chancing to look into his lady's eyes, was wonder-struck at the almost pensive glance that met his own.

"Edith, sweet Lady of the May," whispered he reproachfully, "is yon wreath of roses a garland to hang above our grave, that you look so sad? Oh, Edith, this is our golden time! Tarnish it not by any pensive shadow of the mind; for it may be that nothing of futurity will be brighter than the mere remembrance of what is now passing."

"That was the very thought that saddened me! How came it in your mind, too?" said Edith, in a still lower tone than he; for it was high treason to be sad at Merry Mount. "Therefore do I sigh amid this festive music. And besides, dear Edgar, I struggle as with a dream, and fancy that these shapes of our jovial friends are visionary, and their mirth unreal, and that we are no true Lord and Lady of the May."

Alas, for the young lovers! No sooner had their hearts glowed with real passion than they were aware of something vague and unsubstantial in their former pleasures, and felt a dreary presentiment of inevitable change. From the moment that they truly loved, they had subjected themselves to earth's doom of care and sorrow, and troubled joy.

At last a solitary sunbeam is fading from the summit of the Maypole. Something sinister has happened. Black shadows have rushed from the dark woods in human shape. The ring of gay masquers is disordered and broken. The stag has lowered his antlers in dismay. The Puritans have played their part at last.

The leader of the Puritans who have broken up this gay group stood in the centre of the circle. So stern was the energy of his aspect that the whole man, visage, frame, and soul, seemed wrought of iron, gifted with life and thought, yet all of one substance with his headpiece and breast-plate. It was the Puritan of Puritans; it was Endicott himself!

With his keen sword, Endicott assaulted the hallowed Maypole and soon brought it low. "There," cried he, "lies the only Maypole in New England!"

"Amen!" echoed his followers.

"Yet," said Endicott, "I could find it in my heart to plant it again. It would have served rarely for a whipping-post!"

"But there are plenty of pine trees," suggested a lieutenant.

"True," said the leader. "Wherefore bind this heathen crew, and bestow on them a small matter of stripes apiece, to show our future justice. Set some of the rogues in the stocks to rest themselves. Further penalties, such as branding and cropping of ears, shall be thought of thereafter."

"Here be a couple of shining ones," said one, pointing at the Lord and Lady of the May. "They seem to be of high station among these misdoers. Methinks their dignity will not be fitted with less than a double share of stripes."

Endicott rested on his sword, and closely surveyed the dress and aspect of the hapless pair. There they stood—pale, downcast, and apprehensive. Yet there was an air of mutual support and of pure affection, seeking aid and giving it, that showed them to be man and wife, with the sanction of a priest upon their love. The youth, in the peril of the moment, had thrown his arm about the Lady of the May, who leaned against his breast, too lightly to burden him, but with weight enough to express that their destinies were linked together, for good or evil.

They looked first at each other and then into the grim captain's face. There they stood, in the first hour of wedlock, while the idle pleasures, of which their companions were the emblems, had given place to the sternest cares of life, personified by the dark Puritans. But never had their youthful beauty seemed so pure and high, as when its glow was chastened by adversity.

"Youth," said Endicott, "yet stand in evil case, thou and thy maiden wife. Make ready presently; for I am minded that ye shall both have a token to remember your wedding day!"

"Stern man," cried the May Lord, "how can I move thee? Do with me as thou wilt; but let Edith go untouched!"

"Not so," replied the zealot. "We are not wont to show idle courtesy to that sex which requireth the stricter discipline. What sayeth thou, maid?"

"Be it death," said Edith, "and lay it all on me!"

The deepening twilight could not altogether conceal that the iron man had softened; he smiled at the fair spectacle of early love; he almost sighed for the inevitable blight of early hopes.

"The troubles of life have come hastily on this young couple," he said. "We will see how they comport themselves under their present trials, before we burden them with greater."

The young couple returned to Merry Mount no more. But as the flowery garland of their wedding day was wreathed of the brightest roses that had grown there, so in the tie that entwined them so were united all the purest and best of their early joys. They went heavenward, supporting each other along the difficult path which it was their lot to tread, and never wasted one regretful thought on the vanities of Merry Mount.

Canadian Crops in Excellent Condition

Seldom has rainfall been so general in Western Canada and the growth of crops so uniform as during the past month, says the monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The tenor of reports from our representatives is, in the main, highly optimistic, though there are, of course, some unfavorable advices, which is not surprising considering the extent of the grain area and the length of the growing season. An account of the damage that has occurred will, however, show that this has been confined to a comparatively small part of the prairies and that it has had no great bearing on the prospects in general. Early in July the rainfall in certain districts was regarded as excessive, and this proved to be correct in the case of some low-lying lands which were completely flooded. The same weather conditions caused a rank growth of weeds in Central Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan, with the result that the yields of grain in these areas will be reduced, and it is possible that considerable lodging will occur as the plant, owing to unusually rapid growth, is tender. Summer fallowing has been delayed in many sections, due to the wet soil. Severe hail storms were experienced in some districts, principally in Central and Southern Saskatchewan, but the losses were not so great as were first reported and many of the farmers who suffered were protected by hail insurance.

Throughout the greater part of the prairies there has been sufficient warm, dry weather between the rains to cause a rapid and healthy growth of wheat, and this grain has been safely brought through the most critical stage, that in which drought is apt to occur. The plant is practically all headed out and is quickly approaching maturity. Coarse grains have also made remarkable headway and the crops of oats and barley are expected to be larger than in former years, while rye, which was in poor condition, has improved.

The two most feared hazards that remain are early frosts and rust, in regard to which no definite predictions should be made, but there is less apprehension than was the case a year ago. The plant this season is hardier and more advanced, and from the United States Bureau of Plant Industry reports it appears that there is less rust across the border, the main source of infection, than at the same time in 1927. Rust is evident in only a few localities in Western Canada and, while it would spread rapidly in humid weather, there is no cause for concern as to its development at present.

There is a luxuriant growth of grass on pasture, meadow and range lands and livestock is in excellent condition.

Field crops in British Columbia have progressed favorably and, while the prospects for the apple crop are not as good as a month ago, it is still predicted that the yield will be in excess of that of 1927. Wet weather caused considerable damage to small fruits and the market conditions for these were poor. Peach, plum and pear trees have borne heavily and the crop is expected to be much larger than was picked last year.

Moderately high temperatures and frequent rains induced rapid growth of all crops in the Eastern Provinces, but haying and the harvesting of early grains have recently been conducted under difficult conditions owing to wet weather, the storms in some districts being so severe as to flatten the crops, with a consequent lowering of yield and quality. A lengthy period of dry weather is required, particularly in southwestern Ontario, where corn and tobacco are backward. The commercial apple crop in the East will probably be less than the average, as in addition to a heavy "drop" of blossoms in June, excessive moisture has resulted in a rapid spread of scab. A large production of other late fruits, except pears, is forecasted.

Completing 126 active years, the Redcar lifeboat station, the oldest in England, was recently presented a vellum of appreciation by the Royal National Lifeboat Institution.

French Editor Says England Is Victorian

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Despite lipstick and jazz, bottle and pajama parties and midnight mixed bathing, England is still Victorian. At least that is the verdict of M. Lucien Romier, the French journalist, who is now chief editor of The Figaro. He has visited many lands and now wants to see England and Scotland again. Not that he has not already made up his mind about the Island and its inhabitants. He has already done so and perhaps only to whet his appetite for his next visit he gives his views to his readers:

"You have to go to Great Britain —not London," he says, "in order to get away from British snobbery and that American snobbery which has permeated the world. In Great Britain you will still find that good fellowship, genuineness and old provincial spirit which the British have always showered on the visitor with such exquisite courtesy.

"Nowhere in the world do the old customs of Europe survive as in old England and honest Scotland.

"Great Britain still has her lessons to give, but who heeds them? She struggles, but on the whole she is still in the Victorian era. A kind of heavy, overpowering spirit of the past pervades the atmosphere—the imagination and breath of the new world are missing.

"Though Jeremiahs talk of over population, trade crises, crushing taxation, high cost of living, I do not believe their prophecies of the decline of Great Britain. Even in the suburbs you will find that family uprightness and solidity, sense of national duty, respect for all that serves or represents the general interest are visible everywhere.

"England, the head of the greatest Empire that has ever existed, is patiently and painfully seeking a fresh balance between her needs and her strength. In her search she does not seem to be able to shed the very genuine friendship her people feel towards France."

STATION WCOT TO DISCONTINUE

Federal Radio Commission Gives First Decision Out of a Hundred or More Posts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Government censorship of radio programmes is specifically forbidden in the radio law. Nevertheless, the most effective kind of censorship rests with the Federal Radio Commission in its power to discontinue a station's licence to operate.

An important case in point was decided by the commission today in ordering Station WCOT, Providence, R.I., to quit the air after September 1. .

This is the first decision rendered in the hundred or more cases of small broadcasting stations recently cited to show cause why they should be relicensed.

The commission took the occasion of this decision to issue a "statement of principle," which may be construed at its first definition of the ambigious " public interest, convenience and necessity" phrase of the radio law.

The only other decision today was favorable to the station involved. It assured the renewal of the licence of KODM, Stockton, Cal., subject to the reallocation now in progress.

The commission, incidentally, gave clear indication of an intention to foster the development of low power stations for localized broadcasting.

Most of the other decisions will undoubtedly be favorable to the stations involved.

In the case of WCOT, the commission stated that the evidence disclosed the station was used by its owner "as a means of direct advertising, for the promotion of a candidacy for mayor, for the expression of views on all private matters, and as a medium for attacks on personal enemies."

In the opinion of the commission there is no convincing evidence regarding any educational or aesthetic value of the programmes rendered.

"On the contrary," says the commission, "it is manifest that the station is one which is operating without regard to the rendering of any real public service in the field of radio broadcasting and in such manner as must be objectionable to the large mass of the listening public, and exists chiefly for the purpose of serving the private interests of the applicant and as a conveyance of his own personal views."

It is apparent that should the owners of the station decide to appeal to the courts, they may raise an issue on the score of an indirect and arbitrarily dangerous exercise on the censorship authority.

RADIO PROGRAMMES

Nevertheless, the commission declares that it has felt that many stations have not been showing themselves worthy of their privilege by reason of the type of programmes they broadcast.

"The commission would fail of its duty," it is stated, "if it permitted such stations to continue to enjoy valuable franchises of which the total number is all too limited, and thus to prevent the public from receiving the maximum benefit to which it is entitled from the use of the channels assigned to broadcasting.

"A station which has not been measuring up to its trust should be replaced with a better one. A community which is being served and saturated with broadcasting by a multiplicity of stations, many of which are duplicating programmes, must suffer curtailment for the benefit of a community which is not receiving adequate service.

"All stations must bow to the paramount interest of the public in receiving good programmes."

The commission, in the course of the opinion, denies any prejudice against the small stations serving local communities. In fact, it declares that it has been gratified by the showing made at the recent public hearings by "the great majority of these local stations."

Statements by individual members of the commission are authority for the conclusion that most of the cited stations will survive their recent ordeals and that the forthcoming reallocation of stations may make provision for even more local service stations in some parts of the country.

CERTIFICATES ARE PRESENTED

Director of Safety First for Canadian National Railways Visits Victoria

Mr. Booth, of Montreal, director of safety first for the Canadian National Railways, accompanied by Mr. J. Cook, of Winnipeg, first aid organizer for the western region, paid a visit to Victoria yesterday.

During his visit, Mr. Booth took the opportunity of presenting certificates to a number of the railways' employees who had been successful in passing the examination in first aid, which had recently been conducted by Dr. J. M. Fowler, of this city.

Mr. Booth, in the course of his remarks, outlined the splendid work which was being done by the first aid organization of the Canadian National Railways, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coasts.

In concluding the presentation ceremony, Mr. Cook emphasized the fact that apart altogether from the possible saving of life, the practical knowledge of first aid was of great importance to everyone, as it could be a means of alleviating suffering and therefore of rendering a service to humanity.

Singular Death

COBALT, Ont., Aug. 22.—Apparently the victim of his own experiments, Norman Rimmer, thirty, of Toronto, was found dead in bed today in the room he had been occupying here.

Across his chest was an ordinary leather belt, under which he placed a wet cloth and between the latter and his skin he had inserted two small metal discs which, attached to a wire ran from the wall switch, acted as electrodes.

Examination of the room showed Rimmer to have had three books dealing with electricity.

No inquest will be held.

NEW ZEALAND HAS ELECTION TANGLE

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Aug. 22.—(Vancouver Province cable).—Postmaster-General William Nosworthy's cabled intimation of his candidature in Mid-Canterbury in the December election has caused some surprise in Reform circles and may lead to interesting complications. David Jones, prominent Reformer, has been regarded as the Government candidate for the seat, and it is understood he is determined to contest it, despite Hon. Mr. Nosworthy's announcement.

The opinion is expressed that capable generalship will be required to avoid vote-splitting. Premier Coates said Mr. Nosworthy had left the decision to him and as he had not heard from him on the subject, he was unable to understand the reported decision.

At The Playhouses

COLISEUM THEATRE The immense crowds flocking to see the celebrated British masterpiece "Dawn" at the Coliseum offer a warning for those who have not yet reserved their seats for the remaining days. "Dawn" will close its Victoria run on Saturday night. Meanwhile two mammoth shows are being given daily, starting at 2:30 and 8:30. The reason for presenting two shows daily, instead of running continuously, is due to the belief of Canadian Educational Films, Ltd., who are handling the picture, that it deserves special treatment in its presentation, and in this manner the public will see the complete production without the danger of arriving at the theatre in the middle of the story. In this attitude they would seem to be justified, and the policy has received general endorsement. The picture is certainly being presented in adequate manner, with an absence of theatrical sideshows that would mar its beauty and its message, but, at the same time, its presentation is handled effectively with appropriate prologue and proper musical atmosphere.

CAPITOL THEATRE "Lady Raffles," the Columbia Pictures production which is being shown at the Capitol Theatre today is a skillfully developed drama of the adventures which befall a clever young woman whose life is a mystery. It is a picture of surprises and queer twists in which strategy and apt manoeuvring hold the interest. The plot revolves around a valuable necklace, which changes hands with the dexterity displayed by sleight-of-hand performers, and the awakening of love in the heart of the heroine. Estelle Taylor has a tricky role which she handles in masterly style, displaying the touch of an artist. Miss Taylor is supported by a strong cast including Roland Drew, Lilyan Tashman, Ernest Hilliard and Winifred Landis.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE One of the most unusual and unconventional motion pictures of the season is offered for the delectation of local theatregoers in "The Whip Woman," the Allan Dwan Production which Robert Kane presents for First National Pictures now showing here at the Playhouse Theatre. With its setting in colorful Hungary, "The Whip Woman" is a highly dramatic tale of the old world and its attempts to change ancient traditions in accordance with modern standards.

DOMINION THEATRE It is axiomatic in Hollywood that if a player cannot act under D. W. Griffith, he or she can never learn to act at all. Griffith takes more pains and more time in working his actors and actresses into the proper emotional mood he desires than any other director of pictures. It is a strange coincidence that every player he has ever placed in a role of responsibility has risen to the top of the profession. There are the Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy; Henry B. Walthall, Mary Pickford, Richard Barthelmess, Mack Sennett and virtually every big name in pictures owes something to the quiet influence of "D. W."

The latest to come under his care are Mary Philbin and Don Alvarado, who play the romantic young lovers in "Drums of Love," D. W. Griffith's masterpiece of romanticism now showing on the Dominion Theatre screen. Lionel Barrymore, Tully Marshall and William Austin are also cast in the picture.

Prisoners o' Storm Showing on Screen At Variety Today

Another novel from the pen of that immensely popular author, James Oliver Curwood, has been brought to the screen in "Prisoners of the Storm," the Universal-Jewel production starring House Peters, which will be screened at the Variety Theatre tonight. "Prisoners of the Storm" has its locale in the north woods, as have most of the stories by this popular writer. It deals with the adventures of a miner, who is surrounded by a chain of circumstantial evidence, connecting him with murder of which he knows nothing. Also on the same bill is "The Heart of Maryland," a Warner Bros. production starring Dolores Costello and directed by Lloyd Bacon. Many of the celebrated characters of the Civil War appear and the story has as its storm centre, Maryland Calvert, a girl of the Southern aristocracy, who finds herself torn between passionate love for her native State, and for a young man who decided to espouse the cause of the North.

Captain Jervis to Appear on Stage At Playhouse Soon

Captain Jervis says, that the district around Victoria, B. C. is the most beautiful country he has ever seen, and he has traveled the world over six times.

On Monday, August 27, Captain Jervis will appear in person on the stage of the Playhouse and every night for the whole week.

A large number of candidates for the movies, already registered, also will be on the stage.

Mix Again Scores In Production Now At the Columbia

Once more Tom Mix, ace of Westerns, brings to the screen a thrilling story of the early nineties, replete with startling episodes and magnificent scenic effects. "Painted Post," his newest release for Fox Films, opens at the Columbia Theatre tonight. Mix can always be depended upon to bring the unusual to the screen and his latest effort is no exception to the rule. His horsemanship, his roping, his dexterity with his six-shooters, together with an intriguing plot and splendid cast, to this reviewer's mind is the last word in Westerns. The story of "Painted Post" deals with a troublesome gang of thieves who have reduced a once-prosperous community to poverty with their daring raids. The sheriff is handicapped by unforeseen obstacles. However, he handles the situation that arises in a manner that only Mix can express.

KOMO

SEATTLE, Aug. 22.—KOMO's regular weekly "Hour with Masters of Chamber Music" for Thursday, will begin at 1 p.m. instead of the usual hour of 3 p.m. This hour will feature the composer Brahms and his "Trio in C Minor," Op 101. Brahms was the last of the great line of German masters. He lived a quiet, uneventful life, unlike that of many of his predecessors. He affords an instance of the occurrence of musical genius in the second generation, for his father had run away on two occasions from home in order to devote his life to music. The Totem Concert Trio will lopen the hour with the First Movement, "Allegro Energico." Alice Maclean will sing "Lullaby" (The Cradle Song) which is probably one of Brahms' best known compositions. The trio will close the hour with the Finale, "Allegro Molto."

"Real Cowboy Music" is the feature of KOMO for Thursday evening, at 11. The cowboy musicians are a group of Ellensburg business men and ranchers who have come to Seattle for the purpose of "boosting" the big Ellensburg Rodeo to be held in September. This is the first of a series of three programmes to be given over KOMO.

DAWN
"Is the film, as a work of art, worthy of Nurse Cavell? You may take my word for it that it is . . . Both author and actress will make us feel that the law that Edith Cavell set above a military code, and died for, is an infinitely higher law than the law of war. I hope it will take its lesson to the end of the earth."

Chinese Runs Amok

FAIRFIELD, Cal., Aug. 22.—Ten Chinese were slain and five seriously wounded, when Loy Yeung, a cook, ran amuck on the Wong Gee ranch, five miles from here, today.

Using a rifle and a hatchet he killed Wong Gee, his wife, and three small children. Four others, including Wong Hueng, brother of the ranch owner, fell dead under the maniac's weapons, and six other ranch workers were wounded.

HEAVY SELLING HALTS ADVANCE; MANY DECLINES

Pressure of Profit-Taking Most Effective Against Recent Industrial Favorites—Few Gains

RADIO RECOVERS PLACE AS LEADER

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Heavy profit-taking, inspired by expectations of a large increase in brokers' loans this week, checked the recovery in stock prices today after more than a score of issues had been pushed into new high ground. Several of the high-priced specialties closed 3 to 11 points higher, but many of the standard industrials and rails fell a point or more below yesterday's final figures. Total sales of 3,109,700 were the largest in about two months.

Selling pressure was more effective against the recent industrial leaders. U.S. Steel, after approaching to within 1¼ points of its 1928 high of 154, sold down below 150 for a net loss of more than two points. General Motors dropped from an early high of 189 to 186½, where it was up ¾. Allied Chemicals, American Can, Atlantic Refining, Ward and Union Carbide closed 1 to 2½ points lower.

Radio regained its old place as a market leader by soaring 8½ points to 192¼, and closing 1¼ points under the top. Sears Roebuck ran up 8 points to a new peak at 147¾, and closed within a fraction of the top. National Cash Register touched a new high at 75. Chief interest in the tobacco group shifted to Eisenlohr, which climbed nearly 6 points.

Foreign exchanges were easier. Sterling cables hovered around $4.85⅛.

The bond market was dull and irregular, a few issues reflecting the strength of stocks and others holding unchanged at yesterday's levels, or showing slight recessions. Maintenance of high money rates and calling of moderate volume of loans by banks served to restrict market activity.

Invest Through Reliable Institutions

A bond is a first claim on the government or firm issuing it—secured by assets and income which are more than ample to provide for repayment of principal and prompt payment of interest.

We speak now of issues offered by established financial institutions, whose first consideration is safe investment for those who rely upon its judgment and counsel.

Bonds Retain Investors' Favor

Many wise speculators have already disposed of all or part of their speculative holdings and put their original capital and profits into good first mortgage bonds and well-seasoned, dividend-paying preferred stocks.

Such investment securities are more likely to appreciate than to depreciate in value, so that buyers are placing themselves in a position where they will have good collateral available when another opportunity occurs for speculation.

We shall be pleased to send a list of sound investment offerings to those who are interested. Write for it today.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Wheat. Market an erratic affair with prices fluctuating rapidly within a range of 1½ to 2 cents. A wave of selling at the outset carried September to a new low on the crop and December at one time equalled its previous low for the season. On the breaks there was short covering and some buying believed to be for the account of foreigners, while on the rallies offerings increased and the market was obliged to absorb increased hedge sales.

Foreign crop advices were rather unfavorable with the French crop estimated at 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 bushels less than last year. Russian news was also unfavorable and an admixture of corn and barley will probably be necessary in parts of that country.

Weather in American and Canadian Northwest generally favorable for harvesting, but the forecast is for probable frost in Canada tonight. Export demand at seaboard was slow with sales small. Rallies will occur from time to time, but market's trend still appears down to us.

Corn: Market was lower early with September leading the decline, but prices later rallied with wheat and closed fractionally higher. Weather over the belt was favorable, but crop news was somewhat less optimistic and shorts covered. Local cash basis showed relative firmness as compared with futures. No opinion.

Life insurance taken out by the partners of a business in favor of each other makes it possible for the firm either to continue in business or liquidate slowly, in case one of the partners should die.

Death of any partner dissolves a partnership. In that event one of two courses is open. Either a new partner must be found to replace the skill, personality and clientele of the deceased, or the firm must be liquidated.

It takes time to find a new partner to carry on the business, and it takes even more time to liquidate the firm successfully. Yet the deceased's share must be turned over to his heirs in a relatively short time. Hurried liquidation would be sure to result in heavy sacrifices, especially if the property consisted of fixed assets.

If each partner would insure his life in favor of the others, the liquid capital necessary to tide over a case like that would be provided for.

In case of death, then, the living partners would be sure that the firm could continue in business, and the full value of the dead partner's share would go to his heirs.

VANCOUVER EXCHANGE

(Supplied by R. F. Castle & Co., Ltd.)

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—The market showed a distinct stronger tendency this morning. There was no outstanding stock except perhaps Pend Oreille, which was a trifle weaker. Big Missouri made a half to 45 and was picked up all through at that figure. Cork eased a fraction. Duthie, also not active, made a 2-point gain to 1.02; George Copper sold down 10 to 5.75, but this stock is liable to rally any time. Golconda was strong and steady at 1.11. Grandview slipped a half to 32 1-2, Kootenay Flo opened strong at 22, a rise of 1 1-2, but it broke back later to 21 1-2 and closed at that. Mohawk seems to have lost confidence until further word can be had from the mine, although a poor starter on trading the stock gained 3-8. Pend Oreille was very much in evidence and sold around 1.40 to 1.45, a slight recession from yesterday. Premier, although it dropped 2 points to 2.40, was strong and active. Rufus took a bad knock at the close to 28 1-2; Ruth was steady at 60, Snowflake showed a gain of a point to 39. Terminus was again of 1 to 16, as did Topley at 60. Woodbine was a little healthier, and closed at 25. Whitewater eased off to 2.10 and was picked up strong at that price. Home Oil was in good demand. Opening at yesterday's close, it rose steadily to close at 2.75.

Toronto Mines

(Supplied by R. F. Castle & Co., Ltd.)

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—The mining market today pulled itself out of the lethargy it has been in for the past few days, and gains were in evidence throughout practically the entire board of the standard mining exchange, total sales reaching a high for some time of 946,565 shares. Good news from Noranda accounted for much, while a considerable number of issues dragged along in sympathy. After opening at 2.30, Amulet sold up to 4 near the close, gaining 5 points at 3.95 to 4.00, influenced by strong New York buying. Noranda moved from the opening of 53.75 to 56.10, closing 2.45 better at 55.90 to 55.95, following a very encouraging wire received from Rouyn on Malartic. This issue in heavy trading moved from the opening of 1.37 to 1.50 near the close, closing 12 points better at 2.48 to 2.49. Practically all the Kirkland Lake issues were firmer. Following further favorable surface development news, Bidgood was the recipient of exceptionally heavy trading, and gained 5 points at 71 to 72. Its neighbor, Moffatt Hall, was also under accumulation and was 1 3-4 points better at 21 to 23. Lake Shore received more attention today and at the close was up from yesterday. Teck Hughes was up 3 at 9.18 to 9.20. No information is available Howey up to 1.10. However, it was unable to hold this, and sold down to 103 again, where it closed for a 4-point gain. Jackson Manion was firmer and was up 1 1-2 to 95 1-2 to 96. Rumors of more ore encountered in Newbec accounted for this issue selling from the opening of 26 to 30, and closing at 29. This issue was 3 to 3 1-2 better than yesterday. Sherritt Gordon closed up 4 at 6.30 to 6.35. Following reassuring word from Mr. M. B. Huston, consulting engineer of the Mandy mine, this issue was firmer, and closed 8 points better at 2.74 to 2.75. Its neighbor, Hudson Bay, was also up 15. The remaining issues were more active than usual, showing gains over yesterday mostly.

Winnipeg Grain

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22.—The wheat market was nervous and erratic today, the range in prices 2 1-2 cents. Opening prices were about unchanged with the cables coming 7-8 lower, about as due. Prices declined fractionally under a small trade, but the weather forecast coming out and predicting the probability of local frosts in Saskatchewan and Alberta caused some shorts to become nervous and they started covering, and prices advanced 1 3-4 from the early low mark, only to sell off again to new low marks for the whole year, October getting down to $1.07 1-2, only to react about one cent. Trade was again largely local. There was a little hedging pressure at the start, elevator companies having received some new wheat yesterday, and there was one car of new wheat on the inspection sheet this morning which graded No. 2 Northern.

The bulk of the trade was short covering and spreading, selling the October and buying December and selling December and buying May.

In the cash market there was a fair demand for No. 3 Northern, and some export business was confirmed as being worked in this grade overnight. Otherwise the cash market was very quiet, and all spreads were about unchanged. Rains were fairly general over Alberta and southern areas of Manitoba, which will check harvesting operations for today, but temperatures were mostly higher for the past twenty-four hours, and will have to take a big drop of over forty points to get down to the frost line tonight.

The local crowd are mostly very bearish, but are not pressing their opinions to any extent. It would take a heavy frost to do much damage now, but there is always the danger of a wet harvest, which would cause damage to grades; 50 per cent of the wheat in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is now said to be cut, and about 15 per cent in Alberta. Winnipeg futures closed 1 1-4 higher or around the top for the day. Would not be surprised to see the market do a little better for the next few days.

Coarse Grains—Again there was a fair demand for barley with further export business reported. Offerings are light and movement continues small. Prices were 3-4 lower early but closed 3-8 higher to 1-8 lower. There was very little doing in either oats or rye, nothing of feature going on. Oats closed 5-8 higher to unchanged, and rye 1-2 up to 7-8 lower.

FLAX—This market was steady, closing 3-4 to 3-8 higher. Trade was very light, no feature.

QUOTATIONS VARY LITTLE ON MARKETS

Egg Prices That Have Been Holding Steady for Some Time Show Increase of Two Cents

LARGE CONSIGNMENT OF APPLES ARRIVES

Price changes on the Victoria wholesale and retail produce markets during the week were mixed, with a slightly better tone noticeable in peaches and cantaloupes in the first division, and onions in the vegetable list. Blackberries, raspberries and loganberries, in the retail section, were lower, with sales slow and demand poor, at $1 per crate. Trading basis, however, continued at the high leval that has ruled the local centre for the past month or so.

Egg quotations, that have been holding steady for some time, were subject to a change. They increased two cents per grade in both the wholesale and retail sections. Wholesalers are quoting 38 cents for extras, 36 cents for firsts and 34 cents for pullet extras, while the jobbers obtain 43 cents for extras, 41 cents for firsts and 38 cents for pullet extras.

Sharp bidding in the rural districts, a lighter volume of production and a stronger tone in the Eastern markets are factors that are governing the local egg situation at the present time. Butter still maintains its firm tone, and according to local dairymen no change is expected in the immediate future.

Changes recorded in the vegetable section were as follows: Cabbage, from 4 cents to 4½ cents; corn, from 25 cents to 35 cents a dozen; celery, $1.75 per crate; lettuce jumped from $2.50 a crate to $3.60; new potatoes decreased from $1.40 a sack to $1.25; cucumbers, 50 cents to $1.00; Walla Walla onions from $2.25 to $2.50, and turnips declined from $3.25 a sack to $2.25.

A large consignment of Wenatchee apples arrived and are on the market at $3 a box. Orcas Island Gravensteins and pears were among the latest shipments and sell to the retailers at $3 a box.

The following meats showed increases from last week: Beef steers, 19 cents; beef cows, 17 cents; lamb, 23½ cents; bacon, 39 to 45 cents; ham, 32 to 35 cents.

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Despite the fact that the advance in the averages since the previous record was crossed has been both substantial and sustained, the prospect is for a continuation of the type of advance with which you are now familiar again today, with, perhaps the greatest movement in issues which either inaugurated their renewed movements yesterday or have been in a standby trend and will renew them today. It appears increasingly clear that we are going to witness a development which was called to your attention just about a week ago, namely, the nonfulfilment of a practically unanimous expectation that the end of this month and early part of September would witness a money squeeze. The position was taken here a week ago that this expectation had become so universal that it was almost a certainty that it would not be witnessed, but that, on the other hand, last week and this week would be given over to banking preparations for the demands which it was known would have to be met at the end of the month, with the result that perhaps our tightest money would come all before the end of the month. In banking quarters it is calculated that today we will have a continuance of the present rates but that, thereafter, money will gradually ease, although it will by no means go back to the low prices to which we were accustomed early in the year. Meanwhile, the market is headed up so that intraday reactions should be used to buy stocks.

American Can is scheduled to resume its move after a standby trend of two days. The present programme in American Can calls for the stock to be established well above 110 before the end of the day, thereafter for the attempt to be made to attain its first objective, which you have been advised for months is 120. U.S. Steel has now crossed 150 and is beginning to speed up its move. I consider that you are just as much justified in buying Steel now below 154, which is its top of the year, as you were in following one of the earlier buying recommendations. Many believe that with the departure of Durant the movement in Packard Motors is finished. They will change their minds today when Packard inaugurates a brand new advance, which will carry it well through the nineties before it is completed. St. Paul Preferred continues to be recommended for purchase while it is available below 55, and Chicago Great Western Preferred, while it is available below 30. American Radiator recorded a new record in yesterday's market, thereby fulfilling predictions, and should continue its advance at a more rapid pace, this much having been accomplished. National Power & Light has made a new top for the year and will soon make a new record top. International Harvester is to be subject to a four for one split-up and is scheduled to go substantially across 300. Standard Commercial Tobacco is now beginning to gain its speed. The stock will earn better than $4 this year, and it must be considered as still cheap while still in the middle thirties.

Montreal Stock Letter

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—Today's morning session on the local market was again featured with a good display in all departments of the list. There is no wild rush anywhere, prices are just steadily advancing toward new high levels in an orderly manner, with small reactions here and there which simply add to the healthy tone of the market.

The industrial group contributed the greatest number of advances this forenoon. Alberta Pacific Grain jumped 4¼ points to 63½, but toward the close reacted to 60, a net gain of 1⅛. Asbestos displayed good activity; after opening a fraction lower at 25⅞, climbed to 28¾ and finished only ¼ under the high. Canadian Brewing advanced 1 point to 31, Canada Car 1⅛ to 37, Smelters 5 points to 249, Alcohol 1¼ to 42½, Hamilton Bridge 3¼ to 29, Steel of Canada 2 points to 181.

Massey-Harris also was firm at 44 as well as Dominion Bridge at 82. Winnipeg Electric played the leading role among public utilities, jumping 4 points to 104 and retaining a net advance of 3½.

A generally stronger tone was in evidence on the curb market this forenoon and trading was on a fairly active and broad scale. A good demand developed for many issues and several notable advances were scored. The outstanding feature was provided by General Steel Wares, offerings of which have become scarcer following its recent weak spell. As a result, the stock registered a further gain of 2¼ points to 29¼, the highest point reached for some time past.

Regent Knitting was another issue to add to its recent advance, rising 1¼ to 22. Oil issues share in the improved tone. Final Bid 2 H Played by East

Salient Points of the Bidding

West's strength justifies some offensive measure, either a No Trump bid or a double. On the chance of a possible Spade response by partner, West elects to double. East, with a powerful Heart suit, responds with one Heart only, well able to rebid the suit in case of further bidding, whether by partner or opponents. South, though not holding the conventional six-trick hand required for a rebid without hearing from partner, still bids two Diamonds because of the compensating four honors held in the suit. West passes, unable to assist a forced Heart bid made by his partner or to safely bid two No Trumps with but one stopper in Diamonds.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 1.—For lack of a better opening, South leads the top card of his worthless Club suit. Declarer cannot afford to take the trick with Dummy's Ace, since by thus relinquishing control of the suit, two tricks must be lost in it by subsequent play and game cannot be made.

Trick 2.—North realizes that Declarer probably has but one Diamond and that a Diamond lead will establish the King in Dummy, upon which Declarer could later discard a losing Club. North therefore leads a Spade rather than a Diamond.

Trick 4.—Declarer here must decide upon his line of play. One losing card in his hand must be discarded if game is to be made. Obviously the Spade suit offers the best chance of establishment, and the best way to proceed towards such establishment would seem to be by the "squeeze" route. Accordingly Declarer plays out his trumps.

Trick 10.—North discards a Spade, hoping that Declarer will finesse the Jack. He realizes that a discard of his losing Diamond would induce Declarer to lead a Club, which would force North, upon taking the trick, to led away from the Spade suit for the loss of two Spade tricks.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts, and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make larger pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of peroxine powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. A GIFT—ARE VICTORIANS ASLEEP?
SURELY a good eight-room house, newly decorated, hot water heat in every room, should be worth $4,000. Surely the stone wall, solid concrete driveway and the paved street and sidewalk in front of the property are worth $1,000. Surely the fine shrubbery and the many fine shade and fruit trees are worth $1,000 to any home, and most surely the two and half acres must be worth $5,000, or $2,000 an acre, $11,000 in all. Our price for quick sale for whole property is $2,500, half cash

CHILD'S DEATH PURE ACCIDENT

NO BLAME ATTACHED BY CORONER'S JURY AT COURTENAY

Reason Not Apparent for Falling of Log Which Crushed Little Fairbairn Boy

COURTENAY, Aug. 22.—At the resumed inquest before Coroner J. Conway at the Provincial Police office on Monday night on Graham Alexander Erskine Fairbairn, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. D. Fairbairn, of Victoria, who was caught by a falling log from the Comox logging train on Tuesday afternoon of last week, the jury, composed of Messrs. H. E. Wallis (foreman), Ben Hughes, L. D. Piket, J. L. Lang, Neil Cameron and Robert Duncan, returned a verdict to the effect that death was accidental, all usual precautions having been taken, and no blame attached to anyone. The jury recommended that, if practicable, protective arms be constructed on either side of the track at the Union Street crossing.

Witnesses examined included Dr. T. A. Briggs, into whose office the boy was carried after the log had been lifted off his leg. The doctor's evidence was technical, describing the condition of a badly crushed leg. The boy was conscious and was suffering from shock. He was rushed to the hospital, where he received attention. Following a consultation with Dr. Forrest Leeder, of Victoria, on Friday, it was decided to amputate the leg and the operation was performed the same night. Death occurred shortly after midnight, due to shock, following the operation, which was necessitated by a badly crushed right leg.

Other witnesses who helped at the time of the accident included Enoch Hellan, a taxi driver, Mr. T. D. Steel, and Mr. John Aitken, Government telegraphist. Employees of the logging company also testified. Mr. Robert J. Filberg, the superintendent, in his evidence, said that the company had been operating in this district for nineteen years, during which time several hundred thousand carloads of logs had passed this crossing, and on only one previous occasion was a log dropped, caused by a rough track. There was no apparent reason why logs should fall from the cars at this point. They were hauled from twenty to thirty miles over rougher track at a greater speed before reaching this point. His information was that the train was travelling ten miles per hour or less. He saw the train before it left the woods, when it appeared to be safe. William S. MacKenzie, the loader, and Robert Martin, the conductor of the train, gave evidence of a like nature.

WILL INVESTIGATE ROAD SURFACING

COURTENAY, Aug. 21.—Owing to other duties of the aldermen on Monday night, there was not a quorum of the city council until after the scheduled meeting time. On the arrival of Alderman MacIntyre, business was commenced, with Mayor McKenzie presiding and Aldermen Pearse and Douglas also present. Later arrivals were Aldermen Ball and Wallis.

A number of communications were dealt with including insurance matters pertaining to the city fire department and the Lewis Park property.

Mr. W. P. Beavan, the district engineer, wrote to say that during the coming Winter he intended to carry out some experiments bearing on the bituminous surfacing of the roads with a view to the prevention of damaging action of moisture and frost. As the frequent recording of temperature variations is an important part of the work, he wanted permission to carry out the experiments on Helm Street. This would permit closer attention than at a more distant place, and save much time. Only a small portion of the road would be used, and it would cause no damage to the road or obstruction to the traffic. The request was duly granted.

The vice-president of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs wrote drawing attention to the thirty-fifth annual convention at Sacramento, California, on October 6, inviting the city fire chief and any others interested. The letter was ordered filed.

ALDERMEN VISIT SHIPS AT COMOX

Official Honors Paid to Units of Royal Navy—Admiral Feted at Courtenay

COURTENAY, Aug. 22.—The official visit to the naval ships in Comox Harbor was reported at Monday night's city council meeting, when Alderman Theed Pearse said that at 9:30 on Saturday morning, in company with Aldermen Douglas, Ball and Macdonald, they had gone aboard H. M. S. Despatch. They were received by Admiral Fuller, who had expressed much appreciation for the programme of entertainment which was being provided for the men and for the hospitality being shown them while here. The supply of Comox ice cream which had been sent to the ships was particularly appreciated.

The party had afterwards visited both the Durban and the Vancouver, where an equal cordiality was experienced. The admiral had returned the visit later at the city hall, when he had been received by a reception committee and had been taken to different places in the town, including the Native Sons' new hall, at present under construction.

Alderman Ball reported that while at Comox, Mr. Phillips had discussed the matter of supplying water to the barracks on the spit at Comox. Mr. Phillips had been promised an estimate for piping the water from the head of the wharf across to the spit and he would like to know if the council would sanction the supply of water to the spit for two weeks during the Summer, while the men were engaged in rifle practice at the butts. The estimate is to be prepared and it was pointed out that the spit is likely to be used a good deal more in the future.

EXPECT NEW ERA ON WEST COAST

Completion of Highway Provides Important Link — Project to Dam Kennedy River

TOFINO, Aug. 18.—(By Mail.)—As a precursor of the new era that is about to dawn on the West Coast, the Ucluelet-Tofino highway has attained such a stage of development that Mr. Pete Hillier, as a pioneer of local industry, has established an auto stage line, plying from Ucluelet to Long Beach. While, as an evidence that the whole stretch of road between the two terminal villages can be negotiated by tourist cars during the Summer, a Government motor truck, driven by Mr. Stanley Pearson, passed over the entire distance to Tofino a couple of weeks ago, since when he has been engaged in gravelling the approaches to that settlement, and, what has been so long regarded as a figment of imagination, on the part of hundreds of isolated settlers in this district, seems to be at last in the fair way of becoming a tangible reality.

But, while this road means a step in the right direction, and will doubtless prove to be more, or less, of a local accommodation, it leaves the district but little better off as far as communication with the outside world is concerned, and it is only intrinsically valuable as being the last seaward link of the much-mooted Long Beach-Alberni highway, which would put this country into direct communication with the thriving communities of the East Coast, while its incomparable scenic beauties would be an unfailing attraction in the tourists' itinerary of Vancouver Island.

Another project of potential importance to the settlers of this district is the damming of Kennedy River, where the Robinson Construction Company, of Vancouver, have a gang of men diamond drilling the rock formations for the purpose of ascertaining the proper foundations for a dam, which is intended to conserve the waters of Kennedy Lake and river for the purpose of furnishing power to a large pulp mill that is to be erected nearby, under the auspices of the Sutton Lumber Company.

MAKE LAST PLANS FOR FALL FAIR

Metchosin Directors Make Alterations in Prize List to Encourage Livestock Exhibitors

COLWOOD, Aug. 22.—The directors of the Metchosin Farmers' Institute held a meeting at the home of Mr. J. W. Little recently to discuss final plans for the coming Fall Fair to be held in the Luxton Hall on September 12. The competitors of Colwood and district will notice that alterations have been made in the livestock prize list with a view to encourage the owners of select stock to exhibit. The secretary reported that the membership is higher than in previous years and the finances in excellent standing. The paid-up membership is 150 and a substantial cash balance is on hand in spite of the heavy expenditure made early in the year through property purchase. The date of the mass meeting of all committees in connection with the Fair will be announced later.

Argentina's exports of corn during the first half of this year were only about two-thirds of those for the same period of last ye—

PILCHARD RUN KEEPS SEINE BOATS BUSY

Chief Inspector Reports 600,000 Gallons of Oil and 3,500 Tons of Fishmeal Secured

SCHOOLS BECOME WARY OF NETS

Reports are somewhat conflicting with regard to the pilchard run on the West Coast.

An optimistic view is presented by the Chief Inspector of Fisheries, Major J. A. Motherwell, on his return from an inspection of West Coast reduction plants, it being stated that 600,000 gallons of pilchard oil and 3,500 tons of fishmeal had been obtained up to the end of last week by the plants operating, and that production is 100 per cent better than at the corresponding time in 1927.

On the other hand the Canadian Packing Company reports through men who have returned from their headquarters that the total catch for two months has been about 2,500 tons, and that it has been necessary to go farther to sea to take fish, owing to the increase in fishing activities, which have driven the schools out to sea.

Some operators seem to think a close season will be necessary, limiting the period to commence pilchard fishing, owing to the fact that three fishing seasons have depleted the available supply.

However, there appears to be no doubt that the vessels operating to bring produce from the reduction plants are fairly busy, and are getting good cargoes now, although the season was late in starting. The Nootka has again gone up the Coast to load.

C.P.R. President Is Due in City On September 1

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is expected to arrive here with a party of directors on Saturday week.

O'Malley Says Alaska Salmon Pack Too Large

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 22.—United States Fisheries Commissioner H. O'Malley yesterday declared that the Alaska salmon pack is larger than the good of the industry demands. He said he would approve a policy cutting the pack to about 4,500,000 cases annually. The pack for the present season is 5,208,000 cases.

DISCOVERY ISLE ON LONG CRUISE

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beaumont Visit Coast Ports as Far as Skagway

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Beaumont, of Discovery Island, with their yacht Discovery Isle, are expected back in these waters from Prince Rupert late this week.

Built in Hong Kong, of teak, the yacht was brought across the Pacific on the deck of a Blue Funnel liner. She is forty-eight feet in length with a beam of ten feet, and is powered with an oil-burning engine, giving her a speed of eight knots.

The engine-room is amidships, and can be shut off completely from the pilot house and living quarters by doors. Pantry and kitchen are forward, while the dining and sleeping quarters are aft. Space has been economically used and there are large closets, while the presence of a shower bath is a novelty.

Another feature is the Kitchen rudder, which does away with the necessity for reversing the engine, and the ease with which the boat can be manoeuvred in a limited space has caused much discussion among gasboat owners.

The yacht left Victoria on July 22, and since then has touched at Skagway, Ketchikan, Wrangell, Sitka and Prince Rupert. The trip from Victoria to Alert Bay was made in one day's sailing.

HARVESTERS FROM B.C. TO BE FEWER

Harvest Hands Will Require Letters Promising Employment on Arrival

The number of harvesters leaving the city for the Prairies is not very large. Under the arrangements carried into effect this year, there is an endeavor being made to prevent men going to the fields unless they are specifically needed.

To overcome the danger of overcrowding, and no work being available, only those who bear letters promising work on arrival are favored. These letters, in most cases, are from persons for whom the bearers had worked in other years. From Victoria, up to date, there have been 334 men and fifty-one women who have left for the Prairie harvest fields. Last year there were 374 altogether, who went from here slightly less than this year.

It is estimated that from Vancouver there will be about 3,000 harvesters leave, and from the rest of the province about 2,000.

As far as the hop fields of the lower Mainland are concerned, only fifteen women and ten men have left here. There had been a demand made in Vancouver for 1,500 white pickers by August 21. A message has been received locally that the supply was quite well filled.

PRESIDENT GRANT WITH LARGE LIST

The American Mail liner President Grant, which will sail for Japan, China and the Philippines from here on Saturday evening, will take out the largest list carried by a "State" ship for some time, according to Mr. W. M. Allan, local agent.

Over 145 first-cabin passengers have been booked for the trip, with a large steerage list. Before sailing time every berth on the vessel will be filled.

WEST COAST

Among those on board was a party of Western Canadian musicians sailing to fill a six-months' engagement in Australia and New Zealand. Frank Hall, Clarence Holder and Bert Mars, all local musicians, were in the party.

Other passengers included Sir Joseph Ward, former premier of New Zealand; Tom Heeney with his bride, and brothers, Arthur, Patrick and John; C. J. Neunhoffer and Mrs. Neunhoffer, R. L. Brearley with Mrs. Brearley and their family, returning to their home in Sydney, and T. S. Critchley, of Eastern Canada, on a business trip to Australia.

NORTHERN SALMON SEASON IS ENDED

BELLINGHAM, Aug. 22.—With virtually all the Alaskan canneries closed, the northern salmon pack of Bellingham canners this season was estimated today at 705,000 cases and valued at $5,640,000.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—Recent reports received from the Canadian Western Arctic state that the heavy ice near Point Barrow forced Ss. Baychimo, of the Hudson's Bay Co., into shallow water and aground late in July. The ship touched off Pole Island, west side of Camden Bay, and was held for twenty-four hours. Captain Cornwall had to lighter 180 tons of her cargo before being able to get off. He finally pulled clear and sailed on with no loss of cargo or damage to the ship, arriving on the Mackenzie River August 1.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tides rise or fall continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add thirty feet to the height of high water as given above.

Strong Gale Blows In Northern Ocean Where Plane Sought

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 22.—The coastguard cutter Marion, searching for the missing flyers, Bert Hassell, and Parker Cramer, reported to headquarters tonight that at noon it was hove to in a strong southerly gale, thirty miles east of Resolution Island, and expressed the opinion that there was "no chance of Hassell being alive now if on the water in this vicinity."

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—The Canadian patrol ship Beothic, which is now off the East Coast of Baffin Island, has been requested by the Department of Interior to be on the lookout for the missing plane, the Greater Rockford, and its two occupants, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer. The Beothic will be in Baffin Bay and Hudson Strait waters for the next few days, and as the ship is fitted with powerful wireless equipment, the finding of any trace of the plane or its occupants could be immediately broadcast to Ottawa.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO ANNUAL FAIR

Editor of Point Grey Gazette Finds Exhibition Much to His Liking

A glowing tribute was paid yesterday by Mr. George Beddoes Smith, to the annual Fall Fair, now being held at the Willows. Mr. Smith is here as special representative of The Billboard, of Cincinnati. He is also editor of The Point Grey Gazette.

"The Victoria Fair is far better than it was last year, in both exhibits and attractions," said Mr. Smith. "The stock is well balanced and for the size of the city and its supporting locality the entries are excellent.

"The high quality of competitive exhibits in agricultural and horticultural lines particularly impressed me, while the art and school exhibits are worthy of mention," he continued. "The flower show is the finest that I have ever seen in Western Canada and I certainly wish to congratulate the Fair management for the smooth way in which the Exhibition is being run," he concluded.

Mr. Smith is attending his 341st fair, and is an old hand at the newspaper game. Starting with The Portsmouth Times and Naval Chronicle in July, 1893, he has been associated with papers in the Old Country and many parts of Canada.

The Victoria Motor Boat & Repair Works is engaged in work upon two local speedboats.

TICKET AGENTS TO INVADE CITY

Between 1,000 and 1,200 Coming Here for Afternoon on September 17

Between 1,000 and 1,200 members of the Association of Railway Ticket Agents from all parts of Canada will invade Victoria on September 17.

Arriving here at 1 o'clock from Seattle, they will remain in the city until 6 o'clock. By the courtesy of the American Mail Line, they will be brought over on the Ss. President Pierce, in the Victoria-Orient service of the company.

The transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce is at present working out plans for entertainment of the ticket men, and yesterday held a meeting with Mr. A. P. Chapman, Jr., in the chair. It was decided to give the agents luncheon here and to include a drive to principal points of interest in Victoria and environs.

The steam schooner Hartwood sailed for San Diego yesterday afternoon after loading 550,000 feet of lumber at the C.P.S. mills.

The United States tug Norwood last evening took out four scowloads of sand for Blaine, the largest single consignment to leave here this year.

MAWEEMA KNOWN BY OLD-TIMERS

Wrecked Schooner Built in 1895 Was for Many Years in Lumber Trade

The codfish schooner Maweema of the Alaska Codfish Company, which piled up on Tolstol Point, St. George Island, on Sunday, is remembered here by a few waterfront men. St. George Island, in the southern part of the Bering Sea, is one of the Pribiloff Islands.

The Maweema's captain, Bob Firth, is an old-timer in the codfish trade. His craft was built in 1895, at Humboldt Bay, San Francisco, and for years was in the Coast lumber trade.

With large fishermen's staysails swung to her triatic stays, in place of topsails, the three-masted vessel was easy to handle, and could show a clean pair of heels with the wind abaft her beam. This type of schooner could be sailed with little or no ballast.

After thirty-three years of usefulness, the Maweema nosed her way into the breakers on the rocky island and went to her eternal rest.

Dormer was an unpunctual individual. Try as he might, he could seldom arrive at the office in time. In the end his employer felt bound to administer a reprimand.

Apparently this had the desired result, for Dormer was early with amazing regularity.

The kindly employer, always ready to encourage his staff, congratulated Dormer on turning over a new leaf, and inquired as to how it had been done.

"Well, sir," said Dormer, who had a grown-up daughter, "I have arranged for my little girl to call me when she comes in at night."
